North County Beauty Pageants Are Dying

By FRANK LaPIERRE

It appears that streaking is in, and beauty contests are out this year.

This unsettling, but not surprising fact, is based on the response thus far received by some North County cities to pleas for female pulchritude to come forward and be judged.

There are no longer hordes of girls scrambling over each other with stars in their eyes trying to sweep a local beauty contest as a first step in their journey to Hollywood — and stardom.

Each year the number of girls willing to display beauty and talent is on the downswing in many cities, records reveal.

Daly City Chamber of Commerce President Frank Spadarella, longtime supporter of such civic events, says today's youth are "very conscious of their peers' attitudes in such matters."

This "attitude" leans away from such male chauvinistic matters as beauty queens, and more toward female liberation, he said.

Throughout the nation, these beauty contests have been the target of picketers, brandishing placards condemning beauty functions.

"Maybe the times have changed," Spadarella muses. "Perhaps streaking is in."

For the past six years Spadarella has pushed beauty contests feeling they are "a good idea and a community project that brings credit to the city."

He, like others, point to Dianne Wagner, 1972 Miss Daly City, Miss San Mateo County Dream Girl winner and Miss California, as an example of how far a local girl with the necessary attributes can go in the beauty and brains world.

Like other businessmen throughout the country, Spadarella annually sponsored one of the beauty contestants.

About two months ago, the Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the event, was presented ambitious plans for this year's contest.

It would be held at one of the local high schools, have entertainment and be orchestrated, it was announced.

With only two weeks to go the contest has only one contestant.

"We need a minimum of five to go ahead with this," Spadarella said.

Further south, in San Bruno, the search for "Miss San Bruno 1974" will not get off the ground, officials said this week.

The reason: No fuel for the airplane.

In the past, San Bruno sent its beauty contestants aloft aboard jet airplanes. It was novel and it got the desired publicity.

However, in spite of all the prizes it is offering this year — educational scholarships, being the city's representative at various and sundry ribbon cuttings, a County Dream Girl Contestant and a possible entrant in State contests — no one has thus far come forward.

Officials note there are still some three weeks to go to the deadline for entrants, and they are hopeful someone will turn up.

The San Bruno contest will be held aboard a TWA L-1011 May 18-25, according to current schedules.

Daly City will stage its event June 1.

Daly City Police Chief Succumbs

Daly City's police chief of 23 years, Roland A. Petrocchi, is dead of a heart attack.

The 58 year old chief was stricken Easter Sunday at about 8 p.m. while dining at a friend's house. Police Officer Israel Ortiz administered mouth to mouth resuscitation until the arrival of a Mercy Ambulance crew, which rushed Petrocchi to Mary's Help Hospital. He was pronounced dead there at 8:30 p.m.

A police department spokesman said Petrocchi had been in good health and had not complained of symptoms before the attack.

Petrocchi, a 33 year veteran of the Daly City department, was to have retired next year. His sudden death, left the 107-man department without a chief or an assistant chief. Roy Beecher, Petrocchi's assistant, retired five months ago.

Daly City City Manager David Rowe flew in Sunday night from San Diego, where he was attending a convention, and appointed Captain David Hansen, a 25-year veteran of the department, acting chief.Rowe is expected to appoint a permanent chief and an assistant chief in the near future.

Petrocchi, a graduate of Jefferson High School, worked as a printer with the Daly City Record, played semi professional and later professional baseball before joining the police department in 1941. At that time there were only 15 policemen.

Petrocchi was a lieutenant when he was named chief of the department in 1951. He is credited with building the force into a modern department.

"Chief Petrocchi built a fine department over the years. Without him it's going to a whole new world," said Capt. Hansen, who added that there will be no internal changes made in the department in the forseeable future.

Mass of the Christian Burial will be celebrated at Our Lady of Mercy Church in Daly City at 10 a.m. today.

Petrocchi was eulogized Monday night by City Councilman Paul Hupf, a former city attorney and municipal judge, who said he had known Chief Petrocchi for over 20 years.

Hupf noted a "sense of loss" in Petrocchi's abrupt death. He said the late chief had "enhanced the City of Daly City and the police department immensely."

"Daly City has reason to be very proud of its department," Hupf said. Its high standards, he added, are a credit to Petrocchi.

Mayor McRobert Stewart said he was "still shocked" and called Petrocchi's death a "tremendous loss."

Chief Petrocchi is survived by his widow, Gloria; a son, police Sgt. Ronald L. Petrocchi of South San Francisco; two daughters, Mrs. Andrea Rauschendorfer of Concord and Mrs. Diane Thulin of Canarillo, Calif. A brother, Adi Petrocchi, San Mateo, and a sister, Mrs. Clara Mack of Daly City and four grandchildren.

Interment will be at Olivet Memorial Park.

Man Fights Off Police, Firemen

A 20-year-old man , who apparently went berserk, Wednesday morning, fought off police and firemen as he stood in the midst of a flaming house he is charged with setting fire to in South San Francisco, police said.

Arrested for assault with a deadly weapon and arson was Michael Allan Cox, of 661 Spruce Ave. He was subdued by four policemen and taken to Chope Hospital in San Mateo where Thursday he was reported "quiet."

According to reports from the South San Francisco Police and Fire Departments, the young man stood in the burning house, bare from the waist up and covered with orange paint on the exposed part of his body.

Authorities said at one point he wielded a crowbar and threatened to kill anyone who came near as flames swirled around him.

Firemen said when they responded the home was fully involved. At one point, said a fire department spokesman, a hose was ordered directed at the young man to keep him away from other firemen who were attempting to quell the blaze.

Police said that while firemen were attempting to fight the fire at the parts of the house where the man was not located, several policemen entered the burning building to try to subdue him, as a gathering crowd watched.

According to police, Officers Frank Brown and Art Toscano tried to talk the young man out of the house. Police said the man kept Brown at bay with a knife. Toscano was able to momentarily pin the man to the wall with a chair and the two officers wrestled him to the floor, police said.

It took two more officers, Leo Tealdi and Ken Metcalf, before the police were able to control the young man enough to get him out of the house and to Chope Hospital, police said.

Fire Department arson inspector Gil Castro said several fires were started within the house, using papers and stacking up furniture.

Castro said indications were that fires were started in a bedroom, at the front staircase entrance and in the rear of a dining area.

Damage in the approximagely 10 a.m. blaze was estimated at $25,000 loss to the building and $10,000 content loss.

Crime Is Up In SSF

Crime in South San Francisco increased by six per cent, in 1973, Police Chief Sal Rosano reported this week.

This marks a reversal from 1972, when crime fell by almost 10 per cent.

The worst increases were a 36 per cent rise in burglary and a 23 per cent increase in armed robbery.

"Both of these offenses," Rosano commented "can be in part attributable to our inability to maintain a minimum of 60 per cent availability of uniformed officers for preventative patrol."

He was particularly concerned, he added, with the rise in the cimres of violence — robbery, which has virtually doubled since 1970, and rape, which has increased threefold in the same period.

On the other hand, he had a success to point to. The traffic section, which had been doubled in size in October, 1972, as a result of federal and state grants, had managed to cut down drastically on South San Francisco's auto collisions.

Injury accidents were cut from 221 in 1972 to 81 in 1973. Bicycle injury accidents were slashed from 20 in 1972 to 11 last year.

South San Francisco's most critical intersections remained those on El Camino Real. They included: Spruce Avenue, 30 accidents, Chestnut Avenue 29; Country Club 10; West Orange, 9, and Arroyo, 8. Also dangerous was Grand Avenue, including intersections with Airport Boulevard, 21; Spruce, 20, Dubuque, 16; and Maple, 10. There were 18 accidents at Junipero Serra and Westborough Boulevard, and 15 accidents at Serra and Hickey.

Rossano said stricter enforcement brought an increase in persons arrested for drunken driving, from 204 to 289. Twenty persons were warned and sent home in a cab, or other means.

In another program, South San Francisco police sought to reduce the number of bars in the city. Police took a survey showing that 593 arrests, or over 28 per cent of all arrests, were made in the downtown area. Of these, at least 54 per cent of these arrests were liquor related.

As a result, police are now contesting licenses of certain bars at hearings held by the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board. One officer worked undercover for three months in the downtown area, watching for violations by various bars, and gathering evidence to present at these hearings.

At one ABC hearing, a state hearing officer, who

City Council Appoints Redevelopment Unit

The City Council of Daly City Monday appointed a 21-member committee to provide input for the Mission Street-Junipero Serra Boulevard redevelopment project.

City Manager David Rowe said the Project Area Committee is made up almost entirely of merchants or commercial property owners.

The project involves a predominately commercial area.

On the committee, in addition to resident Dina Matteucci and the Rev. Hosey Spears, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, are Lowell Caulley, Veverly Dikas, Dino Donati, Adolph Firenzi, Frank Gigli, Chris Giotinis, Ralph Hall, William Lonich, Peter Markovich, Fred Martin;

Elton McGraw, Vince Merlo, Joe Pires, Richard Shannon, George Smith, Frank Spadarella, Charles Turner, Max Weiser and Zack Zacharias.

The council appointed 21 of 24 names proposed from area residents and organizations, according to city officials.

Just prior to approving committee members, the council created the committee, noting "There will not be displacement of a substantial number of moderate and low income families in said redevelopment project area."

Committee members will serve during the preparation of the redevelopment plan and for three years after its adoption, then will be subject to one-year extensions by the city Council, which also has the power to fill vacancies which might occur.

The committee is to consult with and submit advice to the Redevelopment Agency, the Planning Commission and the city staff "on any and all matters relating to the project area . . ."

Although the members will not be paid, they will receive "necessary and rea-

Assessment District Approved for SSF

South San Francisco city councilmen gave their staff the go-ahead to start proceedings to form an assessment district to widen and extend the streets of a small neighborhood around the entrance to South San Francisco High.

"You don't know how happy I am to see that," Councilman Leo Padreddii declared. "I have a petition at home filled with names. B Street is a complete traffic hazard. There was a little boy hit by a car there recently. They think the city forgot them there."

City Engineer Bob Yee described plans to widen A, B and C streets, 1st, and 2nd streets, from 24 feet in width, curb to curb, to 33 feet. For this project, the property owners in the area must petition to form an assessment district.

In addition, Yee would start negotiating for right of way to connect A and B streets with the use of high school land, and 2nd and C streets, using part of the former streetcar right of way, now owned by the San Francisco Water Department. He also planned to look into widening of the portion of Oranve Avenue, in that neighborhood, where it narrows down to a major bottleneck.

Councilman Warren Steinkamp said that the city had been remiss in not correcting the street pattern years ago, since it constituted a serious fire hazard for the high school.

In other actions, the City Council:

- Approved an agreement with deWolf & Associates, architects, for an additio to City Hall. The agreement, which had previously brought forth protests from Councilman Frank Mammini, was changed to delete all references to the architect doing extra work for extra pay, and simply left the fee at 9¾ per cent.
- Held over award of a contract to buy a paint striper machine from Western Traction Co. for $17,159, since it was the only bid offered, and the item had been budgeted at $15,200. Mammini complained that some specifications by the city have been too restrictive, thus discouraging bidders. These specifications will be investied.
- Adopted resolution to purchase through the state 18 vehicles for police and the car pool, for $52,200, mainly compact cars. The police cars would be for undercover work, and thus would not be specially equipped.
- Councilman Warren Steinkamp called for improved facilities for Peck's Tract, a mixed neighborhood lying on the extreme northeast section of the city, which has many small chitdren but just one 25-foot lot for a playground.
- Approved urgency ordinance rezoning housing authority land from single family to duplex, at the request of Federal Government, now contemplating a major new housing project.

New Radio Antenna For Water District

The North Coast County Water District was given the go-ahead to construct a tower 60-foot for radio antennas, it was learned at Pacifica Planning Commission meeting Monday night.

According to Planning Administrator Jim Miller, the site, 450 feet south of Fassler Avenue and 450 feet west of the Crespi School site, "is presently used for water tanks.

"The radio antennas are necessary communications equipment for public health, safety and welfare service," he said.

The use permit was filed by Fire Chief Calvin Hinton, on behalf of the water district and the Pacifica fire and police departments.

Hinton explained "We have a great deal of difficulty reaching cars in the rear of the valley, and with the tower, we will be able to reach almost every vehicle in the city.

"The water district is also very interested in removing their tower in the Sharp Park area, replacing it with this one," he said.

Hinton added that the new tower "is not substantially higher than the water tank."

Council to Conduct 6 Public Hearings

City councilmen in Daly City are scheduled to conduct six public hearings at its April 22 meeting.

They will include hearings on Undergrounding District No. 3, the proposed vacation of public utility easements within Serramonte subdivision No. 19, proposed adoptions of the 1973 Uniform Fire and Plumbing Codes and the National Electrical Code.

A report of the city engineer relative to the cost of removal and destruction of weeds, rubbish, refuse and dirt also will be given.

This week at a city council study session on items which probably will appear on the April 22 agenda, City Manager David Rowe asked that a request from Eastside Associates, Inc., for abandonment of Orange Street, between Market and Price Streets, be continued 30 days pending action by the Planning Commission on several related matters.

The council may not act on abandonment until the Planning Commission takes action, Rowe explained.

Coastal Commission Report

Quake Dangers on Coastside

It is dangerous to build and live along the California coast.

This is the warning contained in the latest report issued by the California Coastal Zone Conservation Commission.

The Central Coast Regional Commission will publicly present the report — to become part of the coastal plan to govern all developments along the seashore — April 26 at 7:30 p.m. at San Bruno's Skyline College.

By following certain rules, however, it is possible, the report states, to build safely along parts of the coast.

Four major dangers are pointed out — earthquakes, landslides, tsunamis (tidal waves) and erosion.

Some heretofore unsuspected earthquake faults are pointed out. One of them the Seal Cove-San Gregorio Fault, passes just offshore from San Mateo County's major coastal cities of Pacifica and Half Moon Bay. It can be seen in the form of the Seal Cove Bluffs, west of Half Moon Bay Airport. The bluffs, which show a vertical displacement of up to 150 feet, are actually a fault scarp.

The fault then passes through the Half Moon Bay, then back to land between San Gregorio and Point Ano Nuevo. It is expressed as a broad complex zone of bedrock displacements, sag ponds, and linear ridges and valleys, the report states.

Also mentioned is the Pilarcitos fault, cutting through the San Pedro Valley, but it is not clear whether this fault is active.

Certain soil conditions make for more intense quakes, but only in the Half Moon Bay area, described as of secondary danger in San Mateo County.

Coastal zones are more prone to landslides than other areas, particularly on seacliff areas, the report states. However, this problem can be dealt with. Federal, state and county agencies have slope-stability maps, available to local cities. Geologists can tell when a slope is unstable.

Although Tsunamis — giant waves caused by undersea earthquakes — are rare, they can be dangerous, traveling at speeds up to 400 miles per hour. Most susceptible to tsunami inundation are zones bordering shallow water with long runup areas. These include southern Pacifica and the northern Half Moon Bay areas. Also dangerous are houses built at the base of otherwise protective cliffs.

Shoreline erosion is little understood, according to the report. Many measures taken to combat beaches and cliff erosion result in increase of such erosion elsewhere along the shore. Some parts of San Mateo County's bluffs are eroding at a rate of 10 feet per year, according to the report.

"Ill advised developments," the report warns, "along the shoreline often suffer the consequences of construction that does not adequately anticipate local erosion problems."

The best way to maintain the sand supply, the report adds, is not to impair natural shoreline processes.

"Coastal structures may impede local sand supply, so each proposed project should be evaluated for its impact upon sand movement."

Cliffs, beaches and the sea exist in a delicate balance which can be altered by covering or grading bluff tops, changing drainage patterns, or removing the protective sand beach. When the balance is broken, the sea traditionally advances on the land and cliff retreat occurs, the report states.

The report recommends new development should be designed with a bluff top set back far enough from the cliff edge so that no cliff protection will be required.

All four hazards threaten life and property only because of "inappropriate uses of the land," says the report. In areas prone to geologic hazards, a geologic survey team — including a design civil engineer, a soils engineer and an engineering geologist — should analyze sites proposed for construction and should prescribe safe site treatment and building construction techniques.

"Where this has been done, damage has been reduced dramatically," the report stated.

Local governments, the report advises, should employ an advisory board composed of experts in geology, oceanography, engineering and architecture to set standards of building safely along the coast. Where builders or developers fail to heed warnings, there should be no public disaster loans or even insurance available.

"By proper analysis and precautions, damage from these hazards can be reduced sharply," the report concludes. "The coastal zone can be made a safer as well as attractive place in which to live, work and play."

Buildings Must Be Open to Handicapped

By JACK BIK

It's the law — handicapped persons must be able to use all new facilities open to the public.

That was the message given to building inspectors and other city officials of six major Upper Peninsula cities in a conference in Pacifica last week.

Details of how the law must be enforced were laid out by Richard Wooten, state director of the Office for Removal of Architectural Barriers for the Handicapped — operated under the State Department of Rehabilitation.

Cities represented, in addition to Pacifica, were San Mateo, Daly City, South San Francisco, Burlingame and Hillsborough.

The conference was held in a building that has become a symbol in the handicapped's fight for accessibility — the administration building of the mission-style sewage treatment plants of Pacifica.

The second-story City Council chamber has been closed for public meetings since its completion in November, because of threats of legal action by a handicapped Pacifica civic leader, Ken Faria. It was Faria who brought Wooten to Pacifica for the conference, as well as the City of Pacifica staff who sought his advice on purchase of transit buses.

As Wooten — whose legs are paralyzed — came into the building in his wheelchair, then stopped in front of the steep flight of stairs leading up to the main conference room, city officials decided to hold the meeting in the smaller ground floor conference room.

Advances in medical science and rescue facilities, Wooten told the group, have brought handicapped persons out of institutions and into society.

Laws to remove barriers were first enacted in 1968, he said, and are expanded every year. Now, virtually all kinds of construction are covered under the law except for private homes.

The key to enforcing these laws, he told the building officials, is "reasonableness." Facilities must be made available to the handicapped, but without drastically raising the price of construction or denying such facilities to the non-handicapped.

Most questions centered around toilet facilities in shopping centers and motels.

"The law says if a toilet is available to the public, clients or employes, it must be available to the handicapped," he explained at one point.

In answer to various questions, he stressed that not all toilets in a public facility must be built for the handicapped — but if there are any, there must be a reasonable proportion available for the handicapped. They must be accessible by means of a ramp or elevator, have adequate floor space and be equipped with grab bars, he explained.

Wooten was not able to answer all questions. He admitted that he knew of no way to stop persons from parking in spaces for the handicapped, except by education.

As for the buses, "it's a whole new ballgame." Information on the availability of buses for the handicapped changes everyplace.

Making curbs at intersections accessible to the handicapped is a problem, Wooten said, since building inspectors do not control this aspect of construction. A complaint, however, by Lucy Muir, a Pacifica handicapped woman, that she had difficulty in getting to the Linda Mar Shopping Center because of curbs was taken under consideration by Tom Nance, of the Pacifica engineering department, who promised to try to rectify the situation.

Nick Gust, Pacifica restaurateur and former mayor, asked a number of critical questions.

"It's a sad law," he commented, "when one person can stop a community of 38,000 from using the facility they paid for."

Since Pacifica is already complying with the law, by ordering a $30,000 elevator, he advocated that the City Council start using the council chambers immediately.

Gust cited San Francisco's disregard of the laws on architectural barriers, while Pacifica was being forced to toe the line.

AUTHENTIC SONGS and dances of Greece will be performed April 20 at Westlake Shopping Center, Daly City, by the Greek Orthodox Church of Oakland. Pay Hikes For Officials

Pay raises for South San Francisco's top seven city officials were approved at Monday night's City Council meeting.

Increases, which become effective the next pay period, were headed by that received by City Manager Edward G. Alario, who is being raised from $25,604 to $29,675 a year, with built-in steps to bring the salary to $34,353 in three years.

The fire and police chiefs are being raised from $24,920 to $26,835.

Other increases include: Director of public services Frank Addiego, from $24,920 to $25,574; Director of Administrative Services Stanley Bara, from $23,719 to $24,342; Director of Parks and Recreation Dick Milkovich, from $22,567 to $23,719; Library Administrator Luis Alverez, from $20,964 to $21,489.

Alario said that the raises were a result of a meet and confer process which had been going on for several months. He had been trying ever since he was appointed manager, he explained, to bring up the pay of South San Francisco's top officials to equality with those of other cities of similar size "else we would lose them."

received such evidence, agreed there was a proven over-concentration of bars in the downtown area, which was causing a police problem.

As a result, the regional ABC office agreed to review applications for new on-sale general licenses critically.

In a separate action, the Redevelopment Agency, which is made up of the City Council members, earlier acted to provide the committee with meeting and work space, supplies, equipment and staff services.

The agency's secretary was instructed to maintain a permanent public record of Project Area Committee minutes and the agency's staff directed to arrange for the PAC's initial meeting.

DC Sign Ordinance Delayed

Efforts to push through a new sign ordinance by the Daly City planning staff were stalled April 11 when the five member Planning Commission asked for another study session on the controversial issue.

It had been anticipated that Tuesday's informal public study session on the sign law would provide enough input from merchants, staff and representatives of sign makers and owners to hold a public hearing in two weeks.

But the commission asked Assistant City Planner Bill Wojkowski to complete a final draft proposal incorporating all former sign ordinances, plus suggested alternatives, and bring it back before that body on May 14.

In recent weeks, following discussions between merchants' representatives and planners, the proposed law has been watered down with alternatives from its initial tough stand aimed at almost immediately tearing down non-conforming signs throughout the city.

Chamber of Commerce President Frank Spadarella and Mission Merchants Association President Vince Merlo have fought the city tooth and nail to block the sign law, saying it will further financially crippled the already hard-pressed merchants along Mission Street and Junipero Serra Boulevard.

Both areas are slated for redevelopment.

Spadarella and Merlo said they feel the signs should be left alone and asked that redevelopment be tied in with this new sign law.

Merlo, a tavern owner in the top of the hill section of Mission Street for the past 20 years, said he was glad to hear the new sign law would correlate all the other city ordinances concerning the matter.

The current conglomeration of sign ordinances, or policies dealing with signs contained in City Codes, has had a bewildering effect on him, Merlo said.

"A merchant has enough to do running his business without trying to figure out what this and that sign law means," Merlo said.

The history of the sign laws goes back to 1961 when chapter 23 of the particular ordinance pertaining to signs was passed, setting up a "grandfathering clause" for non-conforming signs.

Four years later, in 1965, Zoning Ordinance 635 was passed by the city superseding other laws on the matter and, in effect, breathing another 10 years of life into non-conforming signs.

Since that time, the city has issued numerous use permits for signs — all apparently conforming signs.

However, if the proposed law is passed it will supersede earlier laws and establish new standards.

It could create yet another non-conforming use pattern, City Atty. Al Polonsky reminded the commission.

Rather than have any sign made illegal under a new law, the city would phase them out over a specified number of years.

This is known as "amortization" and would likely allow such signs to linger on for three years from the time the law was passed by the City Council, or 10 years from the date it was erected, whichever is longer, planners explained.

Mission Bell Motel owner George Smith said he had taken a store-by-store survey of Mission Street and found 14 signs were still up even though business had moved away. And six other businesses in the area had not even paid any license fee to the city.

Trustees Select Mrs. Young

Lois B. Young, a 17-year resident of Pacifica and an active worker in PTA and community affairs, was appointed to the Laguna Salada Union School District Board of Turstees Thursday night.

She took the seat vacated by Sid Lorvan, recently elected to the Pacifica City Council.

Her appointment will not become final for 30 days in order to give time for any voters to protest the appointment. Under recently passed legislation, a minimum of five per cent of the voters may petition for an election.

Mrs. Young was selected from six applicants for the post interviewed by the board last week.

Mrs. Young has been a PTA member since 1960, served as president at Pedro Valley School in 1966-67, and president of the PTA Coordinating Council in 1968-69. She received the honorary life membership award in 1967. She is presently serving as legislative chairman of the PTA Council.

In addition, she has been active with the League of Women Voters since 1966. She served several terms on the board and for two years, as president of the North San Mateo County League.

She also served on a Pacifica Parks, Beaches and Recreation cub-committee during 1971-72.

Both Mrs. Young and her husband, Bob, have been active in youth affairs. They worked as volunteers with Boy Scouts and Little League when their children were attending Laguna Salada schools.

The Young family now resides in Park Pacifica. Their three children have attended Pacific Manor, Sanchez, Pedro Valley and Cabrillo elementary schools.

Bob Young is chief of radar communications for the Federal Aviation Administration in charge of the installation at Scraper Peak above Half Moon Bay.

They have three children, Jim, 21; Jean, 19, and Jack, 17, a student at Terra Nova High School.

The Young family came to the Bay Area from the Marysville/Yuba City area.

Two Flee Home Fire In Pacifica

Two men escaped through a rear bedroom window early Saturday morning as a fire blazed in the living area of a Pacifica home at 301 Kohala Ave., fire officials report.

Officials said the fire, believed caused from a burning ash on a sofa, caused an estimated $10,000 damage to the home and $5,000 to its contents.

According to firemen, occupants David W. Cole, 36, and Nolan Kahawaii, 29, had gone to bed and Cole was awakened by the crackling fire.

Cole, officials said, went to a second bedroom to awaken Kahawaii. Authorities said Cole suffered cuts on his hand and bruises on his arm and head and Kahawaii's hair was singed.

The Joy of Creation

LYDIA TALLEY shows the joy she feels in communicating with clay at the Daly City Art Center. Ms. Talley, as well as her granddaughters participate in class activities at the Art Center. She attends both wax and clay arts classes and helps with the Center's maintenance on a volunteer basis. Lydia is an example of the American melting pot. Her descendants are Dutch and Choctaw Indian with some sprinkling of Welsh, German and Irish. She traveled to California from the Texas plains and settled in Daly City with her family over a decade ago. Ms. Talley was born in 1903 and is full of energy. She walks to the Art Center in the afternoon to help and in the evening to attend classes. The Art Center is located at 101 Peoria Street and is sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department. The next Clay Arts class will be held on Wednesday evenings starting April 24 through June 12; fee is $10.

Food Service Director Resigns

JESD Retains Cafeteria

Retention and expansion of Daly City's controversial cafeteria program was approved by Jefferson Elementary School District trustees April 10, despite an expected $36,000 deficit for the 1974-75 school year.

The board also appointed Nellie True to replace Carol Power as provisional food services director. Power announced her resignation effective April 11.

Only 14 of the district's 21 schools presently participate in the lunch program. Because the district also provides free meals for needy children in all of the schools, the partial program is illegal, according to Administrative Assistant John Lynch.

"Under federal regulations," Lynch said, "we can not give free lunches unless the identity of the children remains secret."

The practice of issuing bag lunches to these children in schools that do not serve food identifies them.

"This is illegal," Lynch said, "and we can either expand the program to all schools, or we will no longer receive federal funds."

Lynch pointed out that, with the expansion, "We are planning to serve a half million lunches, or 3000 lunches a day. Of this, 1500 will be for needy children," he said.

Lynch explained that income from these meals will total $517,000, while the expenditures will be $554,000.

"This is a $36,000 net loss," he said, "and built into this is a five-cent raise in prices; 50 cents per student.

"At 55 cents, the deficit would run about $27,000," he said.

Although the school district is reimbursed for each lunch served, it is not enough to break even, it was explained.

Power said, "The district receives 10.5 cents in general assistance and 45 cents for each free lunch."

She said that with the price increase, the state reimbursement will also increase at an equivalent percentage.

"We would be on an escalating scale and be re-evaluated every three months."

She said the limit of such increases is about 60 cents, but "this year, it is costing us 74 cents to make each lunch," including the cost of the food and the labor involved in preparing and transporting it.

The possibility of offering only bag lunches on a district-wide basis was discussed, but according to Power, hot meals are less expensive.

"Bag lunches cost about a penny more," she said. "They have to be handled more and more preparation goes into them.

"The total cost would be about 74½ cents," she said.

Comments from the trustees indicated a possible vote of denial of the food program in favor of boostering education.

Trustee James Cranna said, "We should continue the program. It's an intrical part of the district and I think we should do something about it."

Several parents indicated that if the program was abolished, many children who do not get nutritionally balanced meals at home, would suffer. Trustee David Parker disagreed.

"We have been providing a balanced diet, but the nutrition the children are getting is not going to benefit them if they don't eat the food," he said.

Many persons in attendance at the meeting, as well as the trustees, agreed that if a child does not like the food, or if there is no one to make him eat it, he will sometimes throw his lunch away.

Trustee Al Schwarzbach said he would vote on a practical solution to the problem, although "it is impractical to suppose that things will get economically better for us.

"I question whether we are going to gain a volume," he said. "This program will run wild on us unless we get funds from other sources."

Vice-Chairwoman Beverly Forrester also chose education as the number one priority.

"I know it's important that children be fed properly in order to learn, but nutrition is the responsibility of the parents," she said.

"While the school district has accepted the burdens of society, somehow it has gotten away from education.

"I am sure there are state services to help these children" she said.

Forrester also pointed out that the cost of the lunch program is close to the amount the district will save if teacher cut-backs become a reality.

Forrester's view was shared by Chairwoman Dorothy Adams. "I believe the cafeteria program does serve a worthwhile purpose," she said.

"It is not really the responsibility of the school district to provide a welfare service, but it has been placed within the scope of the responsibilities of the school district," she said.

"If we would all make an effort to make this program a success, self-sufficient and at no cost to the district, it would work," she said.

District Supt. Keith Breon's statement was brief. "We are not interested in making money off of children's lunches," he said. "We just want to break even.

"We are having problems finding money to maintain our educational program," he said, "and the lunch program may just be another area where some cuts have to come from."

JESD Opens 11 Schools For Summer Session

The Jefferson Elementary School District will operate its 1974 summer school program with 11 schools instead of nine, according to Administrative Assistant John Lynch.

The two schools have been added "in order to make summer school more readily available to more students than in the past," Lynch said.

Two instructional programs will be offered: remedial classes and elective classes.

According to Lynch, students must be recommended for remedial courses. They include language arts, mathematics, reading and an educationally handicapped class, all designed for grades one through seven.

A fifth class, speech clinic, will also be available to kindergarteners.

The elective classes will be open to all students, and according to Beverly Forrester, vice-chairwoman of the board of trustees, parochial school children may also enroll.

Thirteen subjects will be taught in this section of the program. For grades one through seven, these classes include adventures in books, arts and crafts, drama, exploring mathematics, exploring science, folk dancing, music and rhythms, creative writing and physical education and fitness.

Instrumental music may be taken by students in grades four through seven.

Sewing, cooking and home mechanics, open to both girls and boys, will be limited to fifth and sixth graders.

The three classes will be available only at Benjamin Franklin and Colma Intermediate schools.

Lynch pointed out that "the exception would be Woodrow Wilson, where the program, as in years past, would be an extension of their regular year program of compensatory education."

Lynch explained that four principals will be hired for the summer session, and each one will serve a group of schools: George Washington, Colma Elementary and Colma Intermediate; Daniel Webster, Christopher Columbus and Franklin D. Roosevelt; Benjamin Franklin and Garden Village; Westlake, Woodrow Wilson and Vista Mar.

Lynch also recommended that a secretary be authorized for each school, to work from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. for 24 days.

Not Guilty Plea in Assault

Norman Walker, 30, 552 Arguello Blvd., Pacifica, pleaded not guilty April 11, in Municipal Judge Jose de Larios' court, in South San Francisco, to charges of assault with a deadly weapon and burglary.

Judge de Larios set his preliminary hearing for April 19.

According to Pacifica police, Walker was arrested after being found in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Porney, 124 Paradise Drive, Pacifica.

Police report Mrs. Porney entered her home through her garage door April 10 night and saw Walker walking toward her with a large monkey wrench in his hand. She screamed, and dashed back to the garage, as Walker headed for the front door. Her 14-year-old son, Joseph, however, ran to intercept Walker and managed to wrestle him to the ground, but was struck on his forehead with the wrench, police allege.

Joseph's father, however, appeared at the front door and grabbed Walker, while neighbors called police.

Five Hurt In Wreck

Five teen-agers — three from Daly City and two from San Carlos — were injured when their car plunged off Kings Mountain Road April 12 and impaled itself into a tree some 15 to 20 feet down an embankment, the California Highway Patrol reported Thursday.

Officer D. M. Elkins reported an auto driven by John J. Fassler, 19, of 707 Southgate Dr., Daly City, had just left Huddart Park and was heading down the road when Fassler spotted a large boulder on the pavement. He swerved in an attempt to miss it, but skidded off the road.

Fassler, a cook at Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City, and George Dugan, 19, of 2108 Greenwoood St., San Carlos, were taken to Sequoia Hospital. Dugan was released after emergency treatment, but Fassler was transferred to Mary's Help Hospital.

Also suffering lacerations and abrasions in the accident but not treated were Dugan's brother, Barry, 17; Tim Brophy, 16, of 124 Westmoor Drive, Daly City, and Joe Vasconscelos, 17, of 667 Skyline Drive, Daly City.

Young Man Found Dead

The body of a 24-year-old San Francisco man who apparently took his own life by narcotics overdose was found April 12 at the Imperial 400 Motel on Airport Boulevard in South San Francisco, the coroner's office reported Thursday.

Coroner's Investigator James Donovan reported that Ronald P. Marino had apparently been using drugs for some time and left a note to his father on a chair next to the bed where his body was found.

"Dear Dad," the note began.

"I'm sorry about the times I've messed up. Maybe it's better for your business not trying to run a business with a bunch of kids around your neck. When they find me dead, just cremate me. It's cheaper.

"Your son."

He is survived by his father, Carlos, and his family.

Check Wisely Before Investing in Silver

By LORENE BEASLEY
Editor of BBB Barometer

Because of the decreasing buying power for the dollar, more and more people are considering investments in bullion, and because of the out-of-sight price of gold, silver is attracting more and more attention.

Unlike Federal law forbidding the possession of gold except in the form of coins and jewelry or, as used in industry, there is no prohibition against the possession of silver in its various forms.

New and burgeoning schemes, advising of enormous profits that can be realized from silver investments, primarily of silver bars, ingots or coinage, are appearing in newspaper advertising and in circulars sent through the mail.

The theory of purchasing silver or other precious metals may be a hedge against today's inflation but like other fast-growing industries, there could be pitfalls.

It should be remembered that such investments are speculative and risk could be compounded by doing business with an unknown company. Prospective purchasers should be aware that silver bars and other articles can be faked with silver outside and inside filled with other material. If more than a small quantity is purchased, it may be wise to have it assayed to be sure of its value.

Speculative trading in silver options and futures in the commodity market must be contrasted to "permanent" investments for long-term appreciation. Similar to agriculture commodity trading, actual possession of the metal is not contemplated.

Two of the most common types of silver investment offers are known as "Secure Margin" and "Straight Margin." The Secure investment is a plan whereby the investor pays the difference between the face value and the market value. He pays interest on the amount borrowed, plus a brokerage and storage fee.

The Straight Margin investment is a plan whereby the investor pays only a percentage down, usually around 15 per cent, plus interest, usually about 6¾ per cent plus brokerage fees.

Even for a professional dealer, the purchase of silver coins involves the same unpredictability of ultimate rarity. This risk is greater for the amateur investor.

Those contemplating the purchase of silver for investment purposes should look through the terms of an agreement carefully. Any question as to the actual worth and potential of an offer are best answered by a reputable and competent investment counselor.

How Family Coped With S.F. Quake

April 18,1906. The foreglow of the rising sun had illuminated the skies, but the sun itself had not cleared the earth's rim, and was never again to look on San Francisco as it was.

A few seconds after 5:12, old San Francisco received a staggering blow, which in coming days was to be followed by fire. So much of the city was left as rubble and ashes that it began, of necessity, a new life.

Certainly the world of Rev. John Kroehnke was shaken, almost stopped, and then began anew. He, his wife, four girls, and two boys, (two children were older and lived away from home) lived at the corner of Green and Leavenworth streets, and his church, St. John's, was nearby on Larkin Street between Broadway and Vallejo.

That morning the family awakened to the roar and movement of the quake. The youngest daughter, then 12, remembers being awakened by the screaming of her sisters, and seeing a large chandelier swinging back and forth. She also recalls her father crying out for the children to get dressed and to stop yelling.

Debris was universal. The kitchen was covered with soot from a fallen stove flue, and an adjacent pantry was a shambles. Eggs, cans, bags, and china covered the floor. By about 10 o'clock cursory clean up had been completed, and all climbed a short block to the top of Russian Hill.

Below was the stricken city. Already smoke and flames were rising. At first these seemed no immediate threat to home and church, but as hours passed the danger became more real. The panorama was gripping, and the children remained at the top of the hill throughout that day. At sundown the family returned home and stayed during the night. Another day, and again the hill and its view cammanded attention.

On the third morning the Kroehnkes were told they had to leave. The family departed together, carrying paltry belongings in sheets. Everyone carried something — silverware, books, clothing. The youngest daughter carried the family cat. What is still remembered, of course, is that so much had to be left behind. A piano, two flutes, all of the family musical scores, and most of a library.

On the first day rumor had it that the Ferry Building was unusable. But when time came to leave it was reported as in service, and the family headed that way. Their route took them down Pacific Ave., and along the Embarcadero to the Ferry Building. The streets were covered with rubble and block after block had been burned out.

There followed a ferry boat ride across the bay and transit on a Key System train to an Oakland stop near Lake Merritt. There Aunt Minna Beal arrived in horse and buggy to take the family to her home. For several days her hospitality was gratefully accepted. Finally the Kroehnkes settled down in a rented home in Alameda. It was a year before they returned to San Francisco.

During the year that followed the fire and quake the Reverend Kroehnke spent a large part of his time in San Francisco. His first chore had been to arrange for removal of church records to a place of safety. This was accomplished with the aid of church members. A huge trunk was packed, and then shoved along the streets to the foot of Hyde and Larkin. There, in the sands, a tent city had been set up, one part of which was known as St. John's camp. Soon plans were made for the building of a new church, and that structure remains today, standing on the ashes of the old.

When the family returned to the city, it was seen that the fire had taken all. The building in which they had lived was gone, the church was gone, and houses of friends had burned. Left to its own, the fire might have missed this area. Explosions and back fires near Van Ness Ave. had been used to prevent its spread, and it is believed that many of the buildings on and near Russian Hill were casualties of this effort.

This story fascinated me as a boy, and still captivates me today. The Reverend was my maternal grandfather, his youngest daughter is my mother. I remembered marvelling at the story of destruction, fire, moving, and rebuilding. I still wonder if we of today would do as well.

Dr. Reuben Recycles Sex

By MICHELLE CARTER

Just who is this Dr. David Reuben who has involved himself in the most personal aspect of our private lives through his super-successful books on sex?

The man behind "Everything You Ever Wanted to Know About Sex But Were Afraid to Ask" is a very straight-forward, comfortable man who talks about sex as other men talk about football.

He was in the Bay Area last week to promote his latest book, again on his favorite topic, "How to Get More Out of Sex" (McKay, $7.95). This book, sort of a "Son of Everything. .", is written in the same question and witty answer dialogue that he developed in the first book.

In anticipating a meeting with Dr. Reuben, one tends to expect the talk-show celebrity with the quick humor and the name that's a household word. In contrast, the real David Reuben is more psychiatrist than celebrity — and that's the way he prefers it.

"In the three and a half years since the first book, life has changed hardly at all for me and my family because that's the way I want it. I still see patients and I still write. Thanks to my writing I see a lot more of my family than most fathers can," he said.

The family, including three small children, splits the year between office work in southern California and writing stints on Florida's Gulf Coast. What has changed is the volume of his mail.

"My mail man is still complaining. Now people have begun to send me stamps for responses. Some want answers to their questions and some want to be referred to other psychiatrists, but this is a responsibility I can't undertake. The doctor that may be right for one patient may not be right for another and I don't know enough about the patient to handle it."

DR. DAVID REUBEN

But those questioners have provided the basic raw material for the most recent Reuben book. To answer the questions, Reuben has delved into volumes of current medical research and relied on his own talent for humorous description to place the tone of the book somewhere between the Masters and Johnson's clinical research and the skin sheets.

While admitting that some people do read his book just for "titillation", Dr. Reuben sees little harm in the hard-core pornography that can be found in and around most cities in the country.

The "nude encounter parlors," the massage salons and others of the same ilk "serve a purpose in the interim. They will self-destruct when this country becomes sexually mature. People feel compelled to find sexual satisfaction somewhere, even in the most sordid places."

One step towards such "sexual maturity", Dr. Reuben believes, would be the legalization of prostitution in this country.

"It is legalized in most Latin American countries, and these countries also have very low rates of venereal disease (America has one of the highest rates).

And the incidence of sex crimes is lower in those countries where prostitution is available for $2."

For similar reasons, Dr. Reuben agrees with those sociologists who believe that "victimless" crimes such as prostitution and gambling should be decriminalized.

"In fact it's hard to classify these acts as crimes, really. However, some of them do have victims — the perpetrator is the victim. Some of them need psychiatric care, but I feel it's undemocratic to force someone into psychiatric treatment if he doesn't want it. Besides, it usually doesn't succeed."

Those psychiatry can help, if they want help, Dr. Reuben believes, are the homosexuals. However, he sees the Gay Power movement as a positive thing for those homosexuals who are content with their situation.

"Homosexuals have a difficult position in life. Just knowing that they aren't alone can be encouraging for them. On the other hand, they are never going to convince a heterosexual that homosexuality is a good thing."

While pornography, prostitution and venereal disease are indicators of serious sexual problems in the nation, Dr. Reuben sees the current crop of streakers as a harmless phenomenon.

"They are exposing society more than themselves. Because of the hypocrisy of this country, the streakers are causing anxiety and emotional turmoil. The United States is about 50 years behind other countries in acceptance of nudity.

"It's their way of knocking the establishment. It's much more effective than rioting."

In his first book, Dr. Reuben proposed a National VD Day when every citizen of a certain age would receive one dose of a penicillin-type drug — enough to cure gonorrhea and virtually wipe out VD in this country.

"I'm still confident that it's going to happen, but how long can we wait. VD now is increasing at a rate of 12 per cent a year, and it's higher among teenagers than among professional prostitutes. It's a national disgrace that affects four million people in the United States. It represents the legacy of our own prudishness about sex and our own bodies."

Dr. Reuben admits that a National VD Day is not going to happen without a lot of medical planning, but he is anxious to see that planning begin.

While he is encouraged at the sexual revolution that is taking place in the country, he believes "the real sexual revolution is the one that occurs in your children."

He encourages parents to use reality as a guide in discussing sex with their children and to keep in mind that it's not fair to impose their anxieties on their children.

In the years since his first book, a flood of sex manuals was spawned by the instant success of "Everything You Ever Wanted to Know." What does Dr. Reuben think about the throng of imitators?

"Most were just written to be recycled."

What Happened to Gas Lines?

By JOHN HORGAN

For most San Mateo County service station operators, the fuel shortage has ended with a whimper rather than a bang.

Almost overnight, those nagging long lines have disappeared in front of local stations.

Why? No one is really certain. But some of the dealers have their own theories.

"People aren't afraid anymore," explains Hy Tsukamoto, owner of a San Mateo Exxon station.

"People are actually out shopping for gas now. They are looking for the lowest price."

"I think people just got fed up with everything and just stopped driving so much," Nick Lucas, a Chevron dealer says.

Many operators believe that car owners are using their autos less and less.

Still, no one can account for the way in which the lines simply vanished.

"It was weird," another operator says. "One day they were there and the next they weren't."

Ironically, in a random survey taken by The Times, there are few if any dealers who are receiving gas allocations close to 1973 levels.

As they were several months ago, the allocations are still being based on 1972 figures.

Dealers like Tsukamoto are not getting 100 per cent of their 1972 allocations even now.

So, in effect, there is still a shortage of fuel. But the populace has learned to live with it.

Last week, the county's board of supervisors voted to abolish the odd-even system here.

Vestiges of that system linger nonetheless.

Many operators employ their own versions of the identifying flag system to let drivers know whether or not gas is being sold. That too is a holdover from the county's odd-even procedure.

Some dealers also keep their hours listed in plain view as well. Most stations are open for gas for longer periods of time now too.

Are motorists lulling themselves into a false sense of security? The dealers don't think so.

"As long as people don't panic, things will be fine," points out one owner. "Everyone seems to have adjusted pretty well."

News of increasing fuel allocations for California and the reported end of the Arab oil embargo helped lift the morale of the drivers along the way.

And now they are back to scrounging for the best gasoline buy.

"I have people phone here and ask me what my prices are," Tsukamoto says. "You didn't have that a couple of months ago. People would pay over 70 cents per gallon as long as they could get gas."

DC Deadline Reset

Application deadline for the Miss Daly City Pageant has been extended to May 1, contest director Maureen O'Connor told the Chamber of Commerce Thursday.

The reason cited for this extension was the lack of participants in the annual event, scheduled to be held this year at the Westmoor Little Theater June 1.

Any girl between 17 and 25 years of age may pick up applications at the Greater Daly City Chamber of Commerce office, 6454 Mission Street.

In addition to age, participants must never have been married and must also have been a resident of Daly City for the past six months.

The Chamber of Commerce sponsors the pageant. Scholarships awards and other prizes are given to winners.

In the past, persons selected as the most talented have received total prizes estimated to exceed $18,000 during their reign, Ms. O'Conner said.

"More Than a Beauty Pageant," is the theme for this year's event intended to erase the stigma that such contests are solely for the sake of girls possessing great beauty, it was explained.

The contest, however, will be judged on poise, beauty and talent Ms. O'Conner said.

There will be evening gown, swimsuit, talent and question and answer phases in the competition.

Another Screen for El Camino Drive-In

Strong opposition was voiced at the request of Blumenfeld Enterprises to permit construction of a new screen and an addition to the projection booth at the El Rancho Drive-In Theater, at the South San Francisco Planning Commission meeting April 11.

Despite the protest from staff and local residents, Commissioner Homer Vale motioned to approve the request, on the condition that the new theater owner comply with specific recommendations to be presented by the staff at the April 23 meeting.

Commissioner Nello Lazzari seconded the motion, and it was approved, 6-0

According to City Planner Neal Martin, "The theater is surrounded by existing homes, and the towers will loom over these houses.

"The theater was constructed when the area was still in the county," he said, "and it is now incompatable with the surrounding area."

One resident, Joe Mitchell, protested, "The theater is surrounded on three sides by houses, and on the south side, the houses are approximately the same elevation as the theater."

MITCHELL'S MAJOR concern, however, was upgrading the land.

"Attempts to shore up the hill behind the theater have not worked," he said.

"A slide put in for the cement used for shoring at the base of the hill is still there, after three years," he said.

"The hill slopes at about 75 degrees, the slide is at least 50 feet long, and kids play on it. It's a hazard."

The president of Blumenfeld Enterprises said, "I am cognizant of the slide area. I have had a grading company out to survey, and we are going to fix it."

He said the reason for requesting the construction permit was based on economics.

"All along the Bayshore Highway you will find twin screens, three- and four-plex screens.

"We are in a position where we have to bid very high for the movies we show," he said. "It's a competitive thing; a matter of survival."

Artists' family and friends are invited to a champagne party the opening evening of the exhibit.

Complaints Over Flooding

Residents Protest Development

Westborough West Park residents, who have had to live with flooded basements due to inadequate drainage, asked that the proposed construction of 42 townhouses be denied at the South San Francisco Planning Commission meeting April 11.

Commissioner J. O. Mathewson suggested a field trip April 18 to further investigate the problem. The idea was approved unanimously, and a final decision on a construction permit was continued until the May 7, meeting.

According to City Planner Neal Martin, "The request, made by the Norpen Development Corporation, is for the construction of a 42-unit townhouse project, on a 3.9 acre parcel, which is proposed to complete a portion of Westborough West Park.

"The property is located in the center of the existing townhouse development," he said.

"The property adjacent to the proposed project is being or has been developed, except for the immediate church site on the same corner," Martin said.

This requiest, to build a church on the corner of Callan Boulevard and Greendale Drive, was also postpoined until April 23.

The seriousness of the drainage problem was brought to the attention of the commission by two residents of the area.

Raymond Connors recommended that the use permit for the proposed project be denied until the contractors survey the area and correct the flooding in the area.

He suggested that the developers be required to improve the techniques employed in other portions of the project.

"We have spent 14 months attempting to solve this, and we want to make sure the present problem is not aggravated," Connors said.

He explained that "on these terraced hillsides, we can do nothing to alleviate the flow of ground-surface water.

"A city inspector told us that the small circular patio drains are plugged up, and may be the cause of the basement flooding," he said.

ONLY TEN MORE days of posture-practice remain for Holy Angels Women's Guild models, Mrs. Clark Beerman (left) and Mrs. Robert Dal Porto, who will stroll down the runway of the Royal Coach Motor Hotel April 27 in the annual Spring Fashion Show and luncheon. Theme of this year's event is "A Royal Day" and that is what chairwomen Mrs. John Bianchi and Mrs. Joseph Dillon will present to all those attending. Fashions will be by Sears of Tanforan, there will be music and feasting and valuable door prizes, table favors and special prizes. For reservations call Mrs. James Arena at 756-7005.

Broadmoor Church To Celebrate Anniversary

Broadmoor Presbyterian Church's Silver Anniversary Celebration is scheduled for May 17-19 at the church, 337 87th St., Daly City.

The event will mark the completion of 25 years of service in the North County and a quarter century of dedication to Christian principles by clergy and congregants of Broadmoor Presbyterian.

"Several special events are being planned in honor of the anniversary," according to Mrs. Jan Rizzo, honorary chairwoman of the 25th Anniversary Committee and a charter member of the congregation.

"Broadmoor has had many wonderful gatherings over the years," Mrs. Rizzo stated, "but the Silver Anniversary Celebration will be a highpoint in the life of the church.

"Former members of the congregation — old-timers who have moved to other areas — are being sought out and invited to return to Daly City for a weekend of reunion, and Christian fellowship," Mrs. Rizzo said.

"Among them we hope to welcome Mrs. Jesse Glasse, widow of the founding Minister of Broadmoor Presbyterian. Some of the first elders of the church are being invited to return to Daly City to help serve communion at special worship services May 19."

For that day only, the church will start its Sunday worship at 11 a.m., rather than 10 a.m.

After Sunday worship, a Silver Anniversary reception is planned in the church social hall. A ceremonial cake-cutting will honor present and former members and friends of the church, and a light luncheon will be shared. Mrs. Dorothy Orton and Mrs. Marian Whitmore are co-chairwomen for the reception.

The Silver Anniversary Celebration weekend will start with a gala dinner and reunion program in the church social hall May 17. Reservations and tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Charlotte Spruiell, banquet chairwoman. Deadline for reservations is May 5. Ticket price is $3 per person. Seating will be designated in advance on the basis of early reservations.

A special feature of the celebration will be a display of pertinent historical materials, photos, films, relating to the life of the church. Historical research is headed by Chuck Barnes.

Members of the planning committee for the event include Jeannine Robinson, Mrs. Kay Mattson, Mrs. Jean Suenderman, Mrs. Eunice Brabec, Mrs. Joan Anderson, John Rued, Steve House, and Ken Gillespie, chairman. Advisor to the committee is Rev. Herbert Tweedie.

For details and dinner reservations, phone the church office, 755-0597.

Nursing Class To Be Offered

A free Red Cross Home Nursing course will be offered Thursday mornings 10-noon, beginning April 18, at the Mormon Church, 1399 Brunswick, Daly City, Room 18.

Instruction will be held on consecutive Thursday mornings for a six week period.

Included in the supervised practice of the care of the sick and injured at home will be instruction in simple nursing skills, body mechanics, personal services for the bed patient — bedmaking, medications and simple treatments.

Persons interested in taking the course should call the South San Francisco Service Center at 589-5864.

Lorraine Heath

A busy, busy weekend ahead for Girl Scouts, (seems like they are rivaling the Fifty Plus Club members in number of events per month!) according to a newsy note from Mrs. James Morino.

The last Daly City Area Association meeting for the semester will be held tomorrow, at 1 a.m. at the Hope Lutheran Church.

Topic for the gathering will be "Leader Learning" and leaders will be freely exchanging ideas and evaluations concerning the past months' activities.

The women who work with the troops will be invited to let the service team know which special events "worked" and which just didn't seem to come together at the troop level. The attendance at jamborees and comporees will be discussed and rated for future reference.

Saturday and Sunday the Cadette units will be attending a camp out in the east bay. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stewart of Daly City are in charge of the camp, Twin Canyons, and they oversee the service projects and horseback riding facilities offered by the Scout Camp.

Taking part in the weekend jaunt with the cadets, will be Mrs. Barbara Rushton of troop 1636, Carole Ann Scott, Marty Lewkowitz and Karen Kjeldgaard of troop 1620, Mary Ann Dale and Elaine McDowell of troop 716, and Kathy Galvin of troop 124. According to Mrs. Marino all ladies deserve a special salute because working with girls in grades 7, 8, and 9 is "easier said than done."

SEVERAL MEMBERS of the Daly City Friends of the Library are hoping to attend the Friends of the California Libraries' Northern Division workshop on Saturday.

According to Mrs. Emmett B. Tierney, president of the local chapter, the district confab will be held in the Marin County Civic Center.

On tomorrow's Friends calendar there is a tea to honor a number of members of the local Filipino-American community. Mrs. Verna Teglia is the tea's chairwoman and she is being assisted by Mrs. Lorraine Sadefur.

The tea will be held in the John Daly Library at 1 p.m.

Tuesday evening the Fifty Plus Club Members will hold the monthly evening meeting.

Members will gather at the Linda Mar library at 7:45 p.m. to discuss the possibility of a boat trip up the Sacramento River to Sacramento and back sometime in May and also to make plans for the May 11 meeting of the Senior Forum which the Pacifica group is scheduled to host.

Mrs. Helen Sprowl is the chairwoman of the conference arrangements.

MRS. JERRY STRINGER reminds friends of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild that tickets are now on sale for the Lasagne-Bingo luncheon April 24.

Mrs. Fran Gaffigan is in charge of the event which is held annually to raise money to buy materials of the Christmas Boutique.

The luncheon will be held in the Westlake Community Center with no-host cocktails available at 11 a.m. and luncheon at noon. Tickets, costing $3 per person are being sold in the Gift shop in Mary's Help Hospital.

Prizes for the afternoon include a large food basket!

DO YOU HAVE an old, unused, but useable, refrigerator stored away someplace? The science department of Balboa High School, San Francisco, is asking one be donated to the biology and physiology departments.

Anyone wishing to help with this mini-crisis is asked to contact Allan Hummel, head of the science department at Balboa, or Nick Kafkas, alumni-faculty advisor for the school, by calling 333-2777 any day between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Schools all around Daly City and the southern sector of San Francisco have problems that parents and members of the community can help solve.

At Balboa the alumni association will be meeting April 25 to elect new officers and to discuss ways to help finance services to students. Here in Daly City parents are turning out to attend open hearing on the question of continuing music education in the sixth grade. Everywhere parents are finding it takes more time to assure our children of a good education.

Required Reading

A young man who is a senior in high school wants to know what books were required reading in the high schools of 20 or 30 years ago.

A review of a curriculum for high school English reveals a list of books that Isaac D'Israeli would have called an avenue to glory. On the list were "Silas Marner" by George Eliot, "The Lady of the Lake" by Sir Walter Scott, "The Tale of Two Cities" by Charles Dickens, "The House of Seven Gables" or the "Scarlet Letter" by Nathaniel Hawthorne, "Hamlet" or "The Merchant of Venice" by William Shakespeare and either Shakespeare's "As You Like It" or his "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

These are stories that exist to please, to lighten the burden of men's lives; to make them forget their sorrows for a short moment and to give them insight into problems that are universal.

In "Silas Marner" we are introduced to a common sort of man who is not equipped to suffer the heart-breaks and the false accusations that are heaped upon him. In horror he flees from his home only to find loneliness and remorse as a reward. Then love for a helpless child comes into his life and restores his happiness. As we read the story our sympathies are always with Silas Marner. We are thrilled with his romance. We feel his despair when it is over and when his best friend turns his sweetheart against him.

We limp with old Silas on the day he goes walking and finds the child, Eppie, lying beside her frozen mother in the snow. We utter a cheer as we learn from his life that our own sorrows can be relieved by the care we give to others.

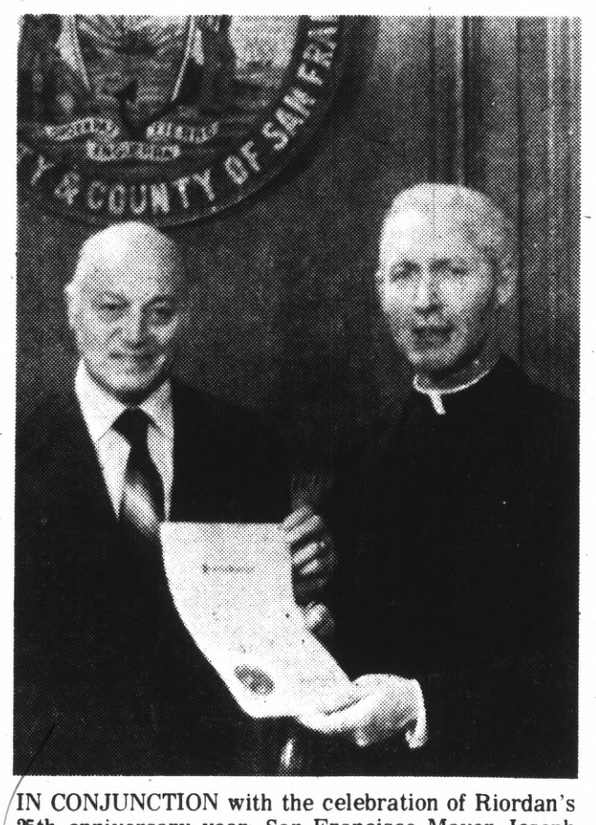
IN "THE LADY OF THE LAKE" we see types of love conflicting in the life of a single person. As Ellen Douglas chooses between the men who offer her their love, she is forced to consider her family loyalty, her patriotism and her ability to sacrifice her own desires for the good of others. As she chooses she learns and we learn with her how much the choices made by each single person effect the lives of other people. Meanwhile the story swirls around the threats of a war that may destroy the wild highlands of Scotland.

Shakespeare's "As You Like It" pushes two light-hearted girls, cousins, into the political situations that have made their fathers enemies. Meanwhile greed ruins the life of Orlando and drives him into a forest where he meets the girls and where he meets his boyhood enemy, Oliver. To complicate the whole mess love comes into their lives and thrives in spite of turmoil, as it often does, until it soothes the atmosphere and turns enemies into friends.

"As You Like It" contains some of Shakespeare's most famous words of wisdom, but, strange as it may seem, these are spoken by a man who seems to be a buffoon but is actually a contemplative character who thinks deeply, but with humor, about the truly important things that beset most men in the journey of life. Here Shakespeare is saying that human beings are complex characters. Few are sharp and witty all the time while few are foolish and dull all the time.

Yet "As You Like It" is full of good fun. Truly it makes reading worthwhile. And truly it introduces the reader to contemplation of many aspects of life. Shakespeare, although he had no degrees in psychology or sociology, knew about the drives that are universal with mankind.

IT IS THE OPINION of this column that teachers who throw reading the classics out of their schools deprive their students of rich and sorely needed experiences. The classics show life with a consistency that may not be found in contemporary works. Indeed, children who are fed solely upon contemporary literature may be shallow in their judgments, for even in an age of realism contemporary judgments are fickle and tend to be impassioned.



IN CONJUNCTION with the celebration of Riordan's 25th anniversary year, San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto presents Father John McEnhill, principal of Riordan High School, with a proclamation from the city to honor the school. The gala celebration will be held at the St. Francis Hotel April 20th. There will be dinner, dancing and all alumni, parents and friends of Riordan are invited to join the celebration. Price is $35 per couple. For reservations contact Mrs. Vincent Murphy, 516 Midway Ave., Colma, Ca. 94015.

Alaska Topic of Friends Program

Ellen Wellar who has lived in Alaska for 11 years, will share her experiences with The Friends of the Daly City Library, April 25, at 10 a.m. in the Coral Room of the Westlake Branch Library, 275 Southgate Ave.

Mrs. Wellar, now a resident of Pacifica, is currently vice president of the China Painters of the Peninsula. She will talk briefly of this art, which has enjoyed a revival of interest, and will have on hand some of the china she has painted.

The program chairwoman, Mrs. H. C. Kincaid, invites the public to attend free of charge.

A coffee social will precede the program. It will be hostessed by The Friends' hospitality chairwoman, Elvera Sunnell, who will be assisted by Mmes. Klaus Tschorsnig and Lloyd Wilson.

Following the event, Mrs. Wellar will be guest of honor at a no-host luncheon in the dining room of the Serra Bowl, Junipero Serra Boulevard and D Street, Colma. Reservations will be taken at the program.

NELL NORTON

Good morning, good cooks.

Ah well, the Easter bunny has come and gone, but those hard cooked eggs linger on and on. Why is it that I decorate so many more eggs than we could possibly use? I think it's my usual misguided frugality. I simply can't stand to throw away those little bowls of egg dye.

Assuming that you too have a bowl of fancy eggs decorating the interior of your refrigerator, here are some ideas of how to use them.

SALMON WITH EGG SAUCE

2 lbs. fresh salmon steaks or fillets
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
A cup milk
3 hard-cooked eggs

Cut the salmon into serving-size pieces and place in a wire basket or on a plate. If a plate is used, tie it in a piece of cheese cloth, which will prevent the fish from breaking up, and also make it easier to remove the cooked fish.

Add three teaspoons salt to two quarts water and bring to a boil. Lower the fish into the boiling water and simmer about 10 minutes or until it flakes easily when tested with a fork. Remove fish to hot platter and serve with egg sauce.

SAUCE

Melt the two tablespoons butter in a small saucepan, blend in the two tablespoons flour, one-half teaspoon salt and dish pepper. Beld well and add the one cup milk gradually, cook stirring constantly, until thick and smooth. Add the three hard-cooked eggs, chopped and continue cooking over low heat until heated through. Serves six.

Egg salad sandwiches, deviled eggs and creamed eggs served over hot biscuits are tasty ways to finish off Easter's bounty.

CREAMED EGGS

6 hard-cooked eggs (more if you have them)
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
¼ cup grated process American cheese

Melt the two tablespoons butter in saucepan, add the two tablespoons flour and blend until smooth. Add the two cups milk gradually, stirring constantly until boiling point is reached. Reduce heat and cook for three minutes longer, add the teaspoon salt and dash of pepper. Stir in the fourth cup grated cheese and stir until melted. Lastly slice the eggs into sauce. Heat through and serve over biscuits.

JESD Sets School Registration

Kindergarten Registration Day for the Jefferson Elementary School District is May 8.

The importance of early registration was emphasized at a recent trustees' meeting.

It was pointed out that to be eligible for kindergarten in September, 1974, state law requires that a child must be five years old on or before Dec. 2, 1974. The child must have been born on or before Dec. 2, 1969.

No registration can be made legally without a birth certificate, or baptismal certificate, passport, affidavit or birth registration card, which has been stamped with an official county seal.

Hospital certificates are not accepted, according to law, unless from a federal hospital.

All children must have immunization for polio, regular measles, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

Proof of immunization is required and children who have not been immunized, may be excluded from school after the first two weeks.

Parents may register their children at any elementary school.

Those with last names beginning with A to L may register between 9 a.m. and 11:30 a.m., and M to Z, from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Public Schools Month

JESD Open House Schedule

With the theme "Public Education — The Foundation of Democracy," the entire month of April this year has been set apart in recognition of California Public Schools Month, State Superintendent of Public Instruction Wilson Riles announced.

What was once Public Schools Week is now a month-long period of recognition. This change will allow schools more flexibility in scheduling open houses around spring vacation, also in April.

"Since 1920, California has observed Public Schools Month. This tradition began and continues under the sponsorship of the Grand Lodge of the Free and Accepted Masons of California," Riles said.

Throughout April the public schools will open their doors to the public. Various activities are planned to show parents and friends of the schools how public education is striving to meet the challenges of preparing the citizenry of the future.

State School Chief Riles said that each school district would determine mutually with its local Masonic Lodge which week or weeks during April to observe the event.

"I would like to see thousands of parents visiting their children's classrooms, discovering, perhaps for the first time, how innovations in education and learning are preparing our children to meet the demands of the future," Riles said.

Terra Nova Juniors Attend Prom

By ANNE HILO
Campus Correspondent

"We've Just Begun," was the theme of the 1974 Junior Prom, held at the Great Electric Underground room in San Francisco's Bank of America World Headquarters, March 29.

"Mid-Day," performed music for the 75 couples attending the dance.

Announcements of the Royal Court highlighted the evening. Ken Phillips was crowned king; Carol Decker, queen; John Johnson and senior Rob Runne were princes; Leisa Hickman and Cheryl Spouse were princesses.

Space Odyssey is the theme of Terra Nova's Spring Fair, which will take place May 21, from 1-6 p.m. Booths will be set up to sell class or club projects and must be approved by the executive board. (The executive board will charge 50-cents to $3, according to the type of space used for booths and the amount of small profit realized. Students may get booth forms from Eileen Wilson, Commissioner of Clubs, or Joni Fraga.

Some of the activities that will take place include a "Carbash", a cakewalk; boat game; picture booth; and slave auction.

"Odyssey Delight", another senior booth, will sell foods and snacks to visitors. Juniors will try to sell potted plants and painted T-shirts. The Backpacking Club will sell health foods.

Bobby D'Castro's "High-Voltage" Dances

Bobby D'Castro, a female impersonator in the Finocchio shows, which are presented four times nightly, recalls the heyday of Fan Dancer Sally Rand when he goes through his dance paces using two small fans instead of two large fans. His high-voltage Brazilian dances, which he learned during a tour of South American niteries, are also audience pleasers . . . For the adventuresome: Spring at South Lake Tahoe is in full swing, especially with Park Avenue Tours, whose Greyhound bus tours and drive-up programs are going great guns. The casinos are bulging with pre-summer vacationists who are taking advantage of the generous bonus refunds offered by Park Avenue Tours. If your group is making plans for an excursion to Stateline, an exciting playland in Nevada, Park Avenue Tours will help you arrange all the details — plus bonus extras . . .

Down Under Attracts The Theatrical Set

It's rather difficult to be situated right in the heart of San Francisco's theatrical row and not have plenty of that exciting profession rub off. At least, that's what the Down Under on Taylor is experiencing on a daily basis. Top stars from surrounding theaters and clubs frequent this popular restaurant, even mingle with the guests, then show-biz takes over. . . . For an unusual evening of dining and entertainment, don't overlook the Grapeleaf restaurant in Burlingame, which specializes in cuisine of the Middle East. The menu is quite selective, and Owners Gabe and Dianne feature curvy belly dancers for that extra intrigue . . . Wilbur Stump is "stumping" Beardsley's patrons with old-time song titles as he 88's at the piano. His repertoire of popular standards goes back further than when "Bill Bailey" first started "coming home." . . . Apologies to Richard Trainor of Scotty Campbell's restaurant for calling him Frank instead of his given name in last Wednesday's Bright Lights column. Incidentally, if you're planning a vacation this summer, ask Richard to fill you in on the Nippersink Manor Resort in Genoa City, Wis. (located 60 miles from Chicago or Milwaukee), where he will be returning in May to help his sister, Theresa, and Bud Urban with their countless resort chores.

MAINTAINS DINING TRADITION — Joe Piccinini, co-owner of the fashionable Jovanelo's restaurant in the Financial District and the new Oreste's of Palm Springs, features outstanding menus with prices that are realistic.

Streakers Also On Display in Las Vegas

Wayne Newton was an astonished performer during his second show in the Copa Room of the Sands Hotel Las Vegas, when a gorgeous dark-haired streaker zoomed across the stage right in the middle of Newton's song. It wasn't until the young lady was off stage that the room suddenly exploded into laughter with Newton enjoying it as much as anyone. The streaker was last seen heading out the stage door and jumping into a waiting car . . . Credit Jim Chen, owner of Chen's restaurant, with bringing a whole new type of Chinese cuisine to the West Coast. Chen's Szechuan dishes are the talk of the mid-Peninsula restaurant circuit, with more and more satisfied diners telling their friends and neighbors about their dining experience . . . Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant is offering high quality food with no strings attached. A long-time favorite of the particular diner, Vince's is drawing big luncheon crowds of business people from all around the Peninsula. Dinners also attract those in search of well-prepared food served in a congenial atmosphere.

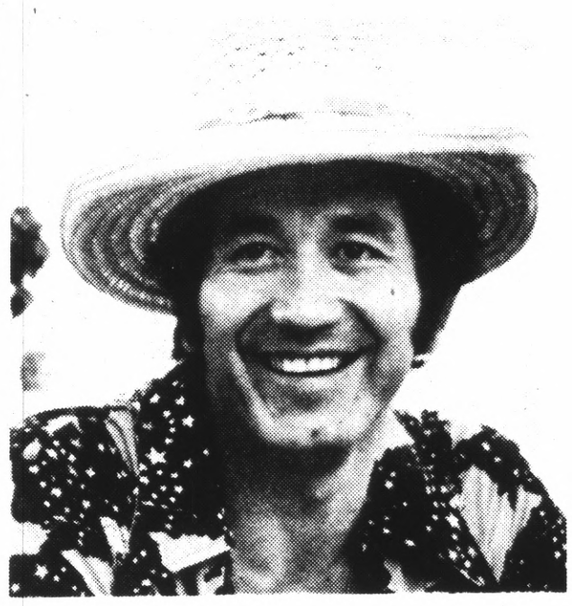
Special Gift for The Secretaries

International Secretaries Week is scheduled for April 21 through April 27. And the staff at the Holiday Inn, Belmont, is planning a special "Break the Routine" luncheon to help bosses show how much they care. The gal behind the scenes here is Huguette MacKeon, Sales and Public Relations Director, who will be giving secretaries a special gift during the designated week . . . You can savor favorite Italian dishes and pizzas of many flavorful varieties at Romano's Italian restaurant, in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica. Not only that, the paste list is almost endless, and sandwiches are heaping. Prefer a salad? Many combinations are available, topped with your choice of dressing. Ah, yes, soups are also served. Food is packaged to travel, too . . . One of the hottest entertainers on the local nitery circuit is the dynamic Mickey Frizzell, who is now appearing with a talented back-up trio, Tuesdays through Saturdays, at Whiskey Hill, Burlingame. Oz will appear in concert Sunday, April 21 . . . Charlie McFadden and Locky Oliver have finalized plans for the Bit of England's 40th anniversary celebration. It's scheduled within the next couple of weeks, and should be a two-day event. Look for details in Bright Lights.

Three-Way Combination At Nick's Restaurants

Rockaway Beach in Pacifica is an ideal setting for dining in first-class style while watching mighty waves pounding away outside the bay windows and chattering seagulls coasting on ocean breezes. Lorraine and Nick Gust host their three great restaurants for all occasions. Service at Nick's restaurant begins with breakfast from 10 a.m. Open seven days a week. Captain Charles serves gourmet seafood specialties from 4 p.m. Wednesdays through Saturdays; from 2 p.m. on Sundays, and The Moonraker, featuring continental cuisine, serves dinner from 4 p.m., Tuesdays through Saturdays; from 3 p.m. on Sundays. Take a stroll along the famous beach before or after dining — you will find it most stimulating. The view is indeed one of the finest . . . Families on a restricted dine-out budget should take advantage of the many low-priced food items found on the various menus at Tanforan Park's Nine Garden Restaurants. Items range from hot dogs to pizza to Chinese dishes, and many more. The atmosphere is relaxed, with spacious seating arrangements for over 500 persons . . . It's vacation time for Erik Pedersen, general manager of the Rodeway Inn, South San Francisco. He and his family are driving down the Baja Peninsula, with La Paz being the final destination.



RECORDING ARTIST — Singer/guitarist Trini Lopez, the complete performer, opens in the Venetian Room of the Fairmont Hotel and Tower on April 23. The well-known television personality, whose most recent accomplishment is acting, draws capacity crowds in top night clubs throughout the country.

Palo Alto Luncheon Favorite Request

One of the most requested luncheon favorites at the Palo Alto Shirt Tail restaurant is the Beefeater. It's tender lean cubes of sirloin, smothered with fresh mushrooms and pearl onions, plus a light wine sauce . . . If you dined at The Showboat, a floating restaurant located Bayside in Burlingame, two years ago, then you had a sampling of "Big Al's" chefing. This tiny bundle of feminine culinary know-how is back to prepare those menu specialties which pleased you so much. After 23 years of catering to particular dine-out Peninsulans, "Big Al" really knows how to please . . . On April 20 and 21, between 9 a.m. and 11 a.m., Rollie Fingers of the Oakland A's will appear in person to greet his friends and sign autographs at Foster's West Pancake House in San Mateo. If you're a baseball fan (and who isn't), don't miss this opportunity to meet one of the baseball greats.

CSM, Skyline Nines Beaten

Skyline College and College of San Mateo each got off to losing starts April 12 in the Viking-Jaguar baseball tournament in San Jose.

CSM did some fumbling, losing to co-host San Jose City College 9-7. Skyline lost a 2-0 lead and eventually bowed to co-host West Valley, 5-3.

Not all of CSM's regulars saw action. Pitcher Terry Hendley, who allowed two earned runs in the nine innings, was victimized by a defense that committed six errors. CSM has 11 errors in its last two games.

Ron Fissolo, Bill Winhall and John Ferreira led the Bulldog offense. Fissolo tripled and Winhall and Ferreira doubled to lead a 10-hit attack.

Phil Frederico gave Skyline its 2-0 lead. He hit a solo homer in the first and drove in Pete Ayers with a single in the third. After Dennis Avila singled in the eighth, Reid Gotthardt drove in pinch runner Art Amador with the Trojans' final tally.

Skyline Records Fall

Three Skyline College trackmen broke school records April 12 as the Trojans defeated Hartnell and the Stanford JVs at Stanford.

Skyline scored 81 to 52 for Stanford and 43 for Hartnell.

Skyline freshman Tony Fotinos shattered his own school mark for the mile by more than five seconds, running 4:20.2 to win. He also ran second in the half mile.

Jim Wyatt won the quarter in 49.8, taking a tenth off his own school record.

Tom Swartzell won the shot put with a 47-9½ heave, besting John Fagnani's 1973 mark by nine inches.

Bart Pierce took both the 100 and 220 for Skyline; Ike Allmond won the high hurdles and the Trojan 440 relay team won in 43.0.

Tournament Titles

Double Win for Prep Hurlers

It was hard to tell which pitcher was more noteworthy.

Both pitched their teams to prep tournament titles April 12, upholding North Peninsula League honor.

Both showed staying power. But the nature of their accomplishments was different.

Terra Nova High's Steve Shirley, a recognized blue-chipper, threw a no-hitter against Oceana; the 5-0 win gave the Tigers the title in the Pacific Invitational which they co-hosted.

From the fifth inning on senior Shirley's patented fastball just got quicker and quicker. The sound effects were great.

Half Moon Bay's Jeff Ormonde didn't throw a no-hitter, but he came out with a better record than Shirley.

He started off the Cougars' day in the Daly City Lions Invitational by throwing a two-hit, 2-0 win over Westmoor. He went the distance.

Then, about six hours later, he defied several laws of physiology — going the distance again to win the championship game — a three-hit, 7-1 win over perennial tourney favorite Burlingame.

He worked a total of 14 innings and allowed five hits. Theoretically, teen-age human arms shouldn't work that well. But HMB has a title to prove Ormonde was able to beat the odds, at least for a day.

Perry Martin led the Cougars with three hits in the championship game; Rick Abbot had two. Burlingame had won the tourney title four of the first five years. HMB is the first NPL team to win it.

Westmoor lost the third-place game to Crestmoor, 3-1. But Westmoor's Rob Baptista earned a mild distinction by stealing nine bases in tourney play.

In the second round of the ongoing South San Francisco Easter Invitational, Richmond beat El Camino 3-0 and host South San Francisco downed a strong-hitting Berkeley club 3-1.

Warrior hurler Dennis Collier shut Berkeley down on two hits. He also drove in the winning and insurance runs in the final inning after Butch Woodman and Steve Yamamoto had singled.

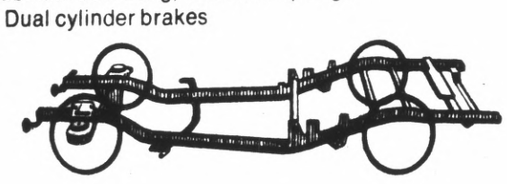
Gutsy
Ford Courier durability starts with a box-section frame reinforced with seven crossmembers. An independent front suspension features big coil springs and a stabilizer bar. Long, wide rear springs have six leaves. Dual cylinder brakes have 2 brake cylinders at each wheel. The all-steel box is all-welded. And a Courier easily carries up to 1,400 lbs. of payload and people.



Sporty
The Courier pictured at right and below sports a dress-up kit that includes such optional features as stripes (in your choice of 4 colors), wheel covers, mirrors and a rear step rail or bumper. There's also a popular bike-bar option (right). And a deluxe box cover option (not shown) has tinted side windows. Automatic transmissions and air conditioning are also available options.

Thrifty
Courier's spirited 1800-cc. engine gives you all the operating economies you'd expect from a 4-cylinder import. And the engine's 5 main bearings . . . for rigidity and strength . . . are designed to help promote trouble-free service over the long haul. For more details on this gutsy little economy pickup . . . and its little import price . . . see your Ford Dealer.

Saga of H. Aaron

There isn't too much more a mere mortal such as yours truly can add to the Saga of Henry Aaron in the way of factual information or direct comment, but what we can do is wonder; wonder what Leo Durocher or Billy Martin or Dick Williams or Charley Finley would have said to Bowie Kuhn had he ordered THEM to run their teams his way.

What Kuhn did was totally out of line, not so much because of any ethics involved, but because of precedence. Baseball teams have been preserving and protecting the records of athletes or manipulating them for home crowds by jockeying starting lineups and juggling strategy for years.

Why should Kuhn have picked on Aaron, Mathews and Atlanta?

How many times has a star pitcher been advanced or delayed one day in his normal rotation to take advantage of a good day for a home crowd, or to match him up with the opponent's star pitcher to hike attendance? How many times, at the end of a season, has a regular been pulled from the lineup to preserve his .300 batting overage, or protect his chance at a batting title? How many times have pitchers been allowed to pitch beyond their normal effectiveness to break a strikeout record or lead the league in complete games or break a record for relief appearances? How many times has a slugger in an obvious bunting situation been allowed to swing away so as to have a better chance at an RBI or a homerun title? How many consecutive game records have been broken by a manager's willingness to allow his exhausted and-or injured athlete to be placed in the starting lineup and pulled after one or two innings? How many bases have been stolen with six run leads so that an individual might break an immortal's stolen base records? Ad infinitum.

What Kuhn has done is establish a dangerous precedent, and we fully expect the Commissioner's office to soon be publishing suggested starting lineups and proper strategy moves, to be sent special delivery to all managers on the eves of their regularly scheduled games.

ANOTHER WONDER: We have no doubt whatsoever that as far as Henry Aaron was concerned, he was giving 100 per cent in that second game he was forced to play at Cincinnati and went zero-for-three. But on the other hand, how often does Aaron strike out twice in succession without ever swinging the bat? We wonder if Henry's subconscious wasn't preventing him from pulling the trigger.

And one last comment on the Aaron Saga. Curt Gowdy really almost said it when he wondered whether, years from now, how many million people from the official attendance of 53,775 would be claiming they saw Aaron break the Babe's career homerun record in person. But he didn't go far enough.

What Gowdy never took into account was how many BILLION of the millions in the television audience will be claiming they saw Aaron do it on on TV.

AS YOU KNOW, we never make predictions in this column, but we will go so far as to question why so many of the experts pick the Giants fourth in the Western Division behind Cincinnati, Los Angeles and Houston, even taking into account the Giants' supposedly weak pitching.

Without being picky and going into great detail, we see a tight three way race between the Giants, the Reds and the Dodgers with, as usual, breaks and-or injuries, or the lack of them, determining the eventual winner. All things being equal (breaks, injuries, etc.), we don't see Houston as any real threat, and neither would you if you carefully examined the respective rosters.

Consider the following elements, not necessarily in order of importance:

All four teams have fine starting lineups (although we don't think those of the Dodgers and Astros compare too favorably with those of the Giants and Reds), but Houston's bench is nowhere near the benches of the other three teams, especially the Giants'.

All teams have comparable speed, but we don't see how any team in baseball can have MORE speed than the Giants.

Whatever pitching problems exist for the Giants exist only in their starting rotation. Their relief pitching, right now, is easily as good as the Reds' and damned closed to the Dodgers'. The Astros have weak relief pitching, and if the truth be known, their starters don't promise to be any more effective than the Giants'. As a matter of fact, with Gary Nolan now probably out for the season, Ross Grimsley gone to Baltimore and Roger Nelson still a question mark, we don't see how the Reds' starting rotation is in any better shape than the Giants'. Only the Dodgers, then, have a good, solid, established pitching corps.

The difference might come down to the managers. Who do you pick, Alston or Anderson?

AND NOW TO CLEVERLY segue from one season to another . . . We have this theory that baseball is ultimately a more dangerous sport than either football or basketball.

We say this because neither football nor basketball contain any one element so dangerous as a baseball, which is very hard and moves very fast and very erratically.

It is much easier to control the flight of a basketball or football than it is a baseball, because neither football nor basketballs are hit, unless you count kicking a football as hitting it. Even then it is somewhat controlled, because it doesn't have to be kicked in flight, nor while it's curving or knuckling. The man who kicks a football, in fact, has complete control over it until the time of impact, and judging from field goal and conversion percentages, the kicker has a helluva lot of control over it AT impact, as well. And, of course, even should a football or basketball go out of control, it's not going to kill anybody.

In rebuttal, you might mention the danger in attempting to control the flight of a seven foot center or a 280 pound defensive lineman, but humans are more predictable than inanimate objects because they think (although there have often been doubts on that score about SOME 280 pound defensive linemen), and therefore have the potential of being out-thought. No third baseman can out-think the rapid flight of a hardball coming off the bat of Dave Kingman.

AND TO TRY to out-think the direction of a ball to be thrown by a rookie southpaw pitcher with a lot of misdirected fastball is, as any hitter will tell you, suicide. We've never heard of a rookie guard or a rookie quarterback, on the other hand, putting anyone in imminent danger with an errant pass of a basketball or football.

There are also many more rules to protect basketball and football players from physical injury, again, because humans can be made to obey rules, while baseballs can't. No umpire can tell a baseball not to take a bad hop into a shortstop's eye, for example.

Although we have no statistics available to back this statement, we believe that while there may be greater numbers of injuries in basketball and football, that baseball injuries directly due to play on the field have historically been more serious. Baseball's Ray Chapman is the only American athlete in a big league level sport (aside from boxing) to have been killed on the field of play as a direct result of a game situation. We would bet that there have been more serious eye and skull injuries in baseball than football.

Long String Of Home Runs

April 10 was the Day of the Home Run, as far as three county community college baseball teams are concerned.

Canada College sophomore Bob Starks had an incredible day — he hit four home runs in a row, including a grand slam and a three-run homer in the fourth inning, and drove in 11 runs as the Colts beat Pierce 26-13 in the opening round of the Allan Hancock Tournament in Santa Maria.

Besides going 4-6 at the plate, Starks was also the game's winning pitcher. Canada scored 14 runs in that fourth inning.

College of San Mateo's Ron Fissolo belted three round-trippers as the Bulldogs beat Solano 12-11 and West Valley 10-7 in the Viking-Jaguar Tournament at San Jose.

Skyline's Phil Frederico finished the same tournament with two homers, a double and two singles in 12 trips up. In Wednesday's action the Trojans split, losing to Chabot 8-2 and beating Solano 13-6.

Fissolo's recent stickwork has left CSM coach John Noce in a dilemma. Star outfielder Dick Bass, who had been out for weeks with a broken wrist, returned to action Wednesday, going one for four.

Noce says he's ready to step back into the lineup. Somebody's going to have to sit down. When Bass was hurt Rudy Castellanos moved from designated hitter to outfield and Fissolo became the DH. Noce's loath to yank either Castellanos or Fissolo.

CSM had problems in the opening game against Solano, a team which has achieved little of note this season.

CSM jumped out to a 6-0 first-inning lead, but was behind 7-6 at the end of 2½.

The Bulldogs had to score four in the ninth to tie 10-10 and two more in the 10th to win — by that time pitcher-poor Solano had a shortstop on the mound.

Fissolo's success at the plate must have caused some tooth-gnashing in the Solano dugout. Fissolo is a transfer from Fairfield. If he'd stayed put, he would have been playing for Solano.

He had two homers and five RBIs in that game. Terry Hendley also homered. Joe Berriatua drove in the tying run with a sacrifice fly and Stu Bringhurst knocked in the winning tally.

Fissolo only had one homer in the second game; West Valley had three. The Bulldogs had to come from behind again. Fissolo had three more RBIs.

Allan Bailey made his first start of the year for the Bulldogs; Gavin Long got the win in relief.

CSM finished third in the tourney and Skyline seventh. Chabot beat San Jose 7-4 for the title.

Skyline couldn't muster a hit, or a base runner, against Chabot until Jay Alves doubled in the sixth.

Poor Solano, fresh off the 10-inning loss to CSM, had problems against Skyline. There were no mound reserves. One pitcher got yanked. The centerfielder came to the mound. the designated hitter moved to centerfield. Then the first centerfielder got yanked and the ex-DH came in to pitch.

Skyline scored 11 times in the first two inning to give starter Steve Baird a cushion; he had relief help from Gary Hart

SSF Hurler Shuts Out Serramonte

South San Francisco High pitcher Dennis Collier knocked Serramonte out of a first-place tie in the NPL Monday, throwing a two-hit, 7-0 shutout.

SSF evened its NPL record at 3-3. Serramonte, now 3-2, is tied for third with Oceana.

Collier struck out 13 and walked one, going the distance to pick up his second win in three league starts.

The game opened the second round of play in the NPL (each team still has at least two first-round rainouts to make up).

Serra Wins 'City'

Serra High downed Hillsdale 4-0 April 12 to take the San Mateo "Host" Lions City baseball tournament title for the second straight year.

Serra pitchers Carlos Roman, Dave Hile and Jeff Morton combined to throttle Hillsdale's offense; Al Gorang's single off Roman in the first inning was Hillsdale's only hit.

The weather was good and the stands nearly full, a pleasant contrast to last year's finale, which was played under conditions Admiral Peary would have hesitated to face.

Serra scored in the first inning on an error. The Padres got another tally in the third on back-to-back doubles by Mike Giusti and Paul Loveseth. John Caselli singled in a run in the fourth and Randy Gomez did the same in the top of the seventh to wrap up scoring.

Giusti had proven to be a special nemesis for Hillsdale; in a 21-4 Padre win earlier this season, Giusti homered twice.

This year's tourney was abreviated; the second round was cancelled because of bad weather. Serra finished 2-0, Aragon and San Mateo 1-1 and Hillsdale 0-2.

In afternoon games Aragon's Steve Sellers, with very brief help, four-hit Hillsdale for a 3-1 win, then San Mateo dropped Aragon 4-2.

Sellers had a spot of trouble in the fourth. With two out, he walked in Hillsdale's lone run. Jeff Hart came in from shortstop to whiff the next man. Sellers came back to the mound next inning. Hart and Jim Chakos each had two singles and an RBI.

In the second afternoon game San Mateo junior southpaw Steve Belvins held Aragon to six hits. Barney Malpass drove in one run on a sacrifice fly and scored later on Don Malinverno's sacrifice fly after tripling. Scott Tarleton scored on a bases-loaded walk and Bob Miller drove in the last Bearcat run with a single.

WANT TO KNOW THE TRUTH ABOUT GROUND BEEF?

IT'S THIS

Nobody can guarantee its exact fat content. There's been lots of talk lately about the fat-lean ratio in ground beef. So why not label each package Contains X% of fat? Let us tell you why.

We've been making ground beef just about as long as anyone and we know there's no way to make two batches that are exactly alike. Two samples taken from the same batch (or even the same package) can differ in ratio of fat to lean. Even with meticulous care in selecting ingredients, there are variations in fat lean ratio. Even with our most modern grinding and mixing equipment. Even with use of the best available fat-measuring devices.

Yet we know our customers want and expect us to provide them with a choice of ground beef products to meet their varying preferences, tastes and budgets. After long and careful consideration, we have concluded that we can best meet our customers' need for variety by offering just two ground beef products – REGULAR and PREMIUM. We make both kinds from fresh chunks of beef. We prepare both kinds with equal care to maintain the top quality which has helped earn our fine meat reputation.

Our REGULAR is made the way we believe most families prefer their ground beef. It contains enough fat to assure full juiciness in the cooked meat. It makes marvelous hamburgers, meat loaves, meat balls, spaghetti sauce, Salisbury steak and other delicious dishes.

Our PREMIUM is made to please families that want a leaner ground beef. It shrinks less in cooking and makes wonderful ground beef dishes of all kinds – plain and fancy.

Why not try both kinds and see which is preferred by the folks at your house? (You might even want to make a mix with some of each.) The famous Safeway money-back guarantee applies, of course, to our ground beef as to all of our other products.

Surprises Await San Mateo County Voters

By BOB HEMINGWAY

Some San Mateo County voters who have been complacently voting in one of two State Assembly districts, a single State Senate district and, for the first time two years ago, one of two Congressional districts will find they are in a strange district with a list of candidates whose names they might never have heard in the June 4 primary election.

It is all due to the redistricting plan approved last fall by the State Supreme Court.

San Mateo County voters will be balloting in four Assembly districts, two State Senate districts and two Congressional districts, the latter realigned from two years ago.

Adding to the confusion is that, in addition to the new districts, the old districts have been re-numbered.

It is in the northerly half of the county where confusion is likely to occur.

Voters in a portion of Daly City, the Broadmoor area, and Bayshore City are now in the 18th Assembly District, which has been extended into San Mateo County from San Francisco. Not a single San Mateo County resident is on the ballot.

The situation is even more severe in the 6th State Senate District, which comprises a portion of San Francisco and extends into San Mateo County south to Crystal Springs Road dividing San Mateo and Hillsborough.

As in the 18th Assembly District, all candidates in the Senate district are residents of San Francisco.

Democrat Leo T. McCarthy is the incumbent 18th District assemblyman, and Democrat George Moscone is the incumbent 6th District senator. Neither is opposed for his party nomination in the primary. There are single Republican nominees in each district, plus a single American Independent Party (AIP) in the Senate race.

Incumbent Democrat Arlen Gregorio's 10th Senate District now extends into Santa Clara County. It formerly included all of San Mateo County and was the 12th Senate District.

Gregorio is unopposed for his party's nomination in the primary but Republican James R. Tormey Jr. of San Mateo will be contested by Donald W. Spicer of Palo Alto for the Republican nomination.

The other new Assembly District in San Mateo County is a brand new district, the 21st, which comprises East Palo Alto, portions of south Menlo Park east of the SP tracks, as well as Palo Alto, Mountain View and a portion of Sunnyvale in Santa Clara County.

In the new district, there are three candidates, one from San Mateo County and two from Santa Clara County, seeking the Republican nomination, but only a single Democratic party candidate, Victor Calvo of Mountain View, a member of the Santa Clara County Board of Supervisors.

The Republican candidates are Clarence A. Jackson Jr., a member of the East Palo Alto Municipal Council; George W. Burleson of Sunnyvale, and Herbert E. Smith of Mountain View.

The other two San Mateo County Assembly Districts, the 19th and 20th (formerly the 26th and 27th) are situated entirely within the county, although cut back somewhat in area by imposition of the two other districts.

Congressman Paul N. McCloskey's former 17th Congressional District now is the 12th Congressional District, but Congressman Leo Ryan's 11th Congressional District continues to have the same number.

Here are the new boundaries for San Mateo County's Assembly, State Senate and Congressional Districts:

CONGRESSIONAL

Dividing the 11th on the north and the 12th on the south, starting from Lobitas Creek at the Pacific Ocean and extending east, jogging to Tunitas Creek Road and following the road to Skyline, then north on Skyline to a point just north of Sierra Morena Woods, turning east across the watershed to Edgewood Road, following Edgewood to Upland Road in the Emerald Lake area, looping back and south to Oak Knoll Drive and Canyon Road intersection, then swing west to skirt the east edge of the lake and extend south to Jefferson Avenue, skirting the north edge of the Farm Hill area of Redwood City and following Jefferson to Farm Hill Boulevard.

The boundary jogs across Edith Avenue, then east across Alameda de Las Pulgas and along Vera Avenue, boxing around Shaw Court south to Fairview Avenue then to Redwood Avenue, following Redwood east to Virginia Avenue, then south to Woodside Road, east on Woodside to Lalota, south around the Atherwood subdivision, then back north on Atherwood Avenue to Woodside opposite Kentfield Avenue, then back south on Horgan Avenue to the Atherton city limits, following the city boundary east to the Dumbarton SP spur line, along the railroad tracks to Willow Road at the west approach to Dumbarton Bridge.

STATE SENATE

Dividing the 6th on the north and the 10th on the south, starting at a point at the south edge of Devil's Slide at the ocean and jogging across the hills to Skyline at the south edge of San Andreas Lake, south along Skyline to Crystal Springs Road, following the Hillsborough-San Mateo boundary along Crystal Springs to El Camino Real, south on El Camino to Fifth Avenue, east on Fifth to Laurel Avenue, south on Laurel to Ninth Avenue, east on Ninth to the SP tracks, south to Tenth Avenue, then east to Bayshore Freeway, turning north to Third Avenue and east on Third to the Bay.

ASSEMBLY

18th District — Included within the area bounded by a line starting at the ocean at the north edge of Thornton Beach, extending east to Skyline, south to Alemany Boulevard, then east to Windsor Drive, south to Southgate Avenue, west to Maddux Drive, continue west to Wildwood Avenue to Pinehaven Drive and surrounding Broadmoor to Junipero Serra Boulevard, continuing north to Parkview Avenue east to Niantic Avenue, north to Vista Grande Avenue, east to Hillside Boulevard, jogging north and east to Wellington Avenue, then curving to Crocker Avenue, then east generally following Guadalupe Canyon Parkway over San Bruno Mountains, swinging north along the Brisbane-Daly City boundary and continuing to encompass Bayshore City before entering San Francisco.

19th - 20th Districts — Divided by the same boundary as the 6th and 10th Senate Districts, with the 19th on the north, 20th on the south.

21st District — Included within the area bounded by a line starting at the SP tracks and extending east at the north edge of Linfield Oaks subdivision to Middlefield Road, south to Santa Monica Avenue, east to Coleman Avenue, north to College Avenue, east to First Street, then south to Willow Road and along Willow to Bayshore, then north to include all of Menlo Park east of the freeway and all of East Palo Alto.

SM County Schools Rate Well in State Testing Program

By JOHN HORGAN

Children in the 23 public school districts in San Mateo County have scored generally higher than their peers in similar districts in California in the state's testing program.

According to test results released by the state for the 1972-73 school year, children in this county performed within or above sets of predicted scoring ranges most of the time.

Only three districts showed tendencies to perform below par. They are: the Ravenswood City Elementary School District; the La Honda-Pescadero Unified School District and the Jefferson Union High School District.

Four districts received scores indicating that they performed above the predicted levels in all tests. Those districts are the Burlingame Elementary School District; the Millbrae Elementary School District; the San Mateo Union High School District and the Sequoia Union High School District.

One district, the South San Francisco Unified School District scored above projected levels in nine of 11 tests administered from the first grade to the senior year in high school.

As part of the state's annual testing of public school youngsters, a number of tests were given last year.

For elementary school children, tests were given in reading in the first, second and third grades.

For sixth graders, tests were given in reading achievement, language achievement, spelling achievement and mathematics achievement.

In this county, 164 of these various tests were taken. Results in 32 of these tests indicated that those students were scoring below predicted ranges. The other results showed that the rest of the youngsters — taking 132 of the tests — were either within or above the predicted ranges.

This is the first time the state has issued its test results in this form.

In the past, results were provided in such a way as to indicate only whether or not a class of children was performing above or below the state average.

For 1972-73, however, a new and perhaps more accurate measurement has been included: The performance index.

In essence, what the state has done is to attempt to compare districts with other districts which, as closely as possible, match up in terms of a set of ten socio-economic factors which affect how well or poorly children can be expected to score in such tests.

The factors are: per cent of Spanish-surname children; index of family poverty; pupil mobility; expenditures for instruction per unit of average daily attendance; per cent of Spanish language children; per cent of college-educated males; per cent of college-educated females; median income of male professionals; median income of male opertives; and median income of all males.

What the state has tried to do is to prevent an unfair comparison of scores between districts which have few socio-economic similarities.

For example, using these criteria, a comparison of the Ravenswood City Elementary School District and the Hillsborough City Elementary School District would be invalid.

Instead of making such a comparison, the state has compared local districts with similar ones throughout the state.

Hence, Ravenswood is rated along with districts like itself.

A range of predicted scores is provided in each testing category and, depending on how the children fared in the tests, a district is rated either within the predicted range, below it or above it.

The accompanying table of results for all of the county's districts can be read in the following way:

The score on a particular test indicates what percentile or rank that class of children falls into. For example, if a district's first-graders got a 77 on a reading test, that means those children have scored higher than 77 per cent of the children in the rest of the state.

In addition, if that district's predicted scoring range in that category was 66 to 81, the performance index would then indicate that the children were scoring within expectations.

According to the state's figures, here are the worst performances recorded in this county:

A score of 13 in 12th grade language achievement in the La Honda-Pescadero Unified School District. The low score on the predicted range ws 62, a difference of 49 points.

A score of 18 in 12th grade language achievement in the Cabrillo Unified School District. The low score on the predicted range was 44, a difference of 26 points.

A score of 21 in 12th grade reading achievement in the Jefferson Union High School District. The low score on the predicted range was 43, a difference of 22.

A score of 7 in sixth grade reading achievement in the Ravenswood City Elementary District. The low score on the predicted range was 26, a difference of 19.

Again, according to the state's analysis, here are the best performances recorded in this county:

A score of 88 in sixth grade spelling achievement in the San Bruno Park Elementary school District. The high score on the predicted range was 67, a difference of 21.

A score of 85 in sixth grade language achievement in the South San Francisco Unified School District. The high score on the predicted range was 66, a difference of 19.

A score of 91 in 12th grade language arts in the San Mateo Union High School District. The high score on the predicted range was 73, a difference of 18.

A score of 94 in sixth grade spelling achievement in the Millbrae Elementary School District. The high score on the predicted range was 76, a difference of 18.

2 Injured

Two men were injured as flames virtually destroyed their two-bedroom bungalow in the Sharp Park district of Pacifica this morning.

David Wayne Cole, 36, received cuts and bruises when he crashed through his window to escape the flames and smoke. According to Fire Capt. George Lobanoff, Cole was awakened shortly before 8 a.m. and dashed down the hall to the other bedroom to wake up Nolan Kahawaii, 29. The two dashed back to Cole's room as the smoke and flames gathered, and Cole found he had to break through his window to escape. Kahawaii cut his foot in the escape.

By the time firemen arrived on the scene, on the corner of Brighton Road and Kohala Avenue, the building seemed to be enveloped in flames, with fire leaping out of every window. Firemen donned their smoke masks to check for any further occupants — and found a dog, under a pile of rubbish, unharmed.

Recreation, Planning Departments

Pacifica Budget Tug of War

Pacifica councilmen voted April 10 to place Karen Norton, popular senior recreation leader-youth coordinator, on the permanent city payroll for May and June.

She is among the 16 city employes being paid by the Emergency Employment Act, who are losing their jobs this month because federal funds are running out. The city is thus losing 10 per cent of its work force, which it cannot afford to replace, City Manager David Thompson reported two weeks ago.

Commenting critically on Norton's hiring were Angela Saladino and Kay Grottum, leaders in the Sharp Park Improvement Council. The SPIC had benefited by the city's technical aid, in planning technician Jon Curtis, whose job was terminated last week, under the EEA program's expiration.

"It's an opportunity for the council to let the people know where their priorities lie," declared Saladino. "Some (recreation) classes only have participants. Being short in the Plan, which were expanded from five to 25 under Norton, yielded $6,120 and provided programs for 1,760 persons during the last fiscal year. The money needed, $2,459, is available in the recreation department through the existence of several vacancies during the year.

The planning department, on the other hand, has had some extra expenditures. A secretary was injured and the department was forced to hire a temporary replacement.

The question of keeping Norton on after June 30 — which would increase the annual PB&R budget — remains a council matter during budget sessions.

Curtis, meanwhile, had an additional complaint of his own. He charged the city impounded $70 in voter registration fees, collected by city employes. Ninety per cent of those he registered, Curtis charged, were in door-to-door canvassing done on his own time. He complained that when he tried to get his $4.20 back, Finance Director John Pratt declined to pay him six per cent interest, estimated at 35 cents.

Councilmen directed that the city employes may keep their fees for work done in the past — but in the future, all fees for voters registered on city time, be kept by the city. The employe could keep the fees for work done on his own time if he makes special arrangements with the county, they added — which was Pratt's recommendation. No interest is owed Curtis, they added.

Another financial program concerning city employes came up when the Police Department asked for approval of a transfer of $13,500 in funds within the department to pay for unanticipated overtime, due to three sergeants' positions being vacant because of resignations and disabilities.

Meanwhile, the council approved a reorganization of the Building Maintenance Division which will save almost $5,000 a year. Russell Yorks, longtime superintendent, is retiring and he will not be replaced. Instead, a custodian will be hired, and the department will be headed by a working foreman.

Grand Knight Degrees Given

Grand Knight George Hartig reports that at a recent meeting of Marian Council No. 3773, Daly City, two new members joined the Knights of Columbus at ceremonies conducted at the Broadmoor Community Center.

In addition to the Admission Degree a Formation Degree was conducted by District Deputy Frank D'Emilio. Receiving their Formation Degree were Robert Galletta, Rudy Giron Jr., Ray Tschirgi Jr. and Noble Larson.

Awards were presented to Tom Curr, Bob Simon and George Hartig for their participation in the recent basketball tournament sponsored by Marian Council.

Authentic songs and dances of Greece will be presented by the Greek Orthodox Church of Oakland at Westlake Shopping Center April 20.

Music will be provided by the Nick Dakis Trio. Free performances will be given at 1 and 3 p.m. on the Mall.

Voter Signups

There will be a registrar to sign up voters at the Serra- monte Mall by the fountain on Saturdays from 9-5 and Sundays 12-4:30 until the last day to register May 5.

Mrs. Helen Villalba, 587-6475 is registrar.

Serramonte High Band Sets Fashion Fling

A Fashion Fling is being planned as the next event in the fund raising effort of the Serramonte High Concert Band.

Attending the Hawaiian Festival of Music in June is the band's goal and the fashion show scheduled for April 26 at 8 p.m. in the Serramonte High School gymnasium, will aid the cause.

Fashions will be provided by Mervyn's Department Store in Serramonte Center with coordination by Maureen O'Connor. Daly City's own beauty queen, Diane Wagner will be doing the fashion commentary.

Models will be Serramonte students, faculty, and parents. A special added attraction will be swim suit modeling by the girls entered in the Miss Daly City Pageant.

A donation of $1.50 will admit adults and $1 will admit children and students with a student body card. Chairwoman of the fashion show for the band parents is Mrs. George Koch who has announced that tickets may be purchased in advance at Serramonte High School or will be available at the door.

Guadalupe Center Sets Health Fair

Guadalupe Health Center, Daly City, is sponsoring a Health Fair, April 20 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

This event at the top of the hill, will provide health examinations for hypertension, blood-sugar, Tuberculosis skin test, sickle cell, dental screening, breathing test, hearing and vision testing for children.

There will be films and general health information covering such subjects as alcoholism.

Several agencies also will provide career information. There will be music and entertainment.

The Health Fair is held to create greater public awareness of health problems and services available. It was felt that each subject could best be handled as an integral part of a multi-faceted problem.

Different agencies and organizations concerned with health were encouraged to participate.

Plant 'Mums for Fall Color

By IVA NEWMAN

Now is the time to start chrysanthemum plants for flowers this coming fall in our home gardens. Commercial growers have the facilities such as blackout shades and artificial lighting to bring this flower into bloom at will, but the home gardener must still rely on daylight for the fall color show.

Most home gardeners root their own cuttings if healthy plants are at hand. Beginning gardeners may find it easier to buy cuttings already rooted, but they should try rooting a few for the thrill of growing their own from scratch.

The best material is tip cuttings about four inches long, well leafed out and sturdy. They should also be succulent. Tips from woody shoots usually fail to root well and seldom produce a vigorous plant. A tip cutting, properly chosen, seldom carries with it any disease the mother plant may have. Root divisions, on the other hand, are generally less healthy than tip cuttings.

All but the top three or four leaves are removed and the cuttings are placed in a rooting medium. A widely used rooting medium consists of equal proportions of fine sand, screened peat moss and screened soil. The mixture should be moist when used and screened through a one-eighth inch mess screen. Four inch diameter, clay pots can be used and eight cuttings inserted around the edge of the pots. The compost should be quite firm when potting the cuttings. One-fourth inch of sand should be spread over the medium before planting. Some of this sand will fall into the hole when the cutting is inserted and will aid in the rooting. Set the pots in a box that is six to eight inches deeper than the pots and cover with a clear piece of plastic. Turn the plastic over each day to prevent the moisture condensation from dropping on the cuttings as this may cause damping off. Shade must be provided for a few days or until plants make signs of growth, then gradually expose the plants to sunlight as growth advances. Do not allow plants to become spindly or dry. Three weeks to a month after insertion, the cuttings will be rooted and ready to be transferred to their permanent quarters.

Keep Free of Aphids

During the period it takes the cuttings to root, the plants must be kept free of green and black aphids by spraying.

Best results are to be had when the soil where the chrysanthemums are to grow is sunned and aired before the cuttings are set out. This is done by spading the soil and leaving it rough for a few days, then spading again before raking it smooth. We place a teaspoonful of slow release fertilizer in the soil below each cutting, mixing it with the soil. This seems to get the plants off to a really good start.

Stopping is the condition where the break bud is not allowed to form. The reason for stopping a plant is to insure an earlier bud break than would naturally occur. Where plants have to be stopped twice, say at the end f March and again in May, means that the break bud and the first crown buds will not develop as the plant was stopped before this became possible.

Disbudding refers to the removal of the surplus growths or buds which surround the bud that is selected to flower. The removal of this surplus growth concentrates all the strength of the plant into the bud and thus produces the perfect flower.

The first crown bud is the first bud to form at the tip of a stem. The second crown bud forms just below the first crown bud at the tip of new growth. The second crown bud sometimes makes a better flower than the first crown bud. The terminal bud will appear in time if the plant is allowed to continue its growth with the first and second crown buds remaining. Terminal buds develop last. If the first crown bud is saved, all other buds are removed as they appear.

Terminal Buds Come In Clusters

Terminal buds are produced in clusters. On small-flowered varieties no attempt is made to select buds or to disbud. Many people prefer the beautiful sprays produced on all of the small-flowered varieties. The plants will develop sprays of both crown and terminal buds, but the mass of terminal buds will give the desired cluster effect. A few large pompon varieties are disbudded, as are some large anemone varieties and a few large singles.

Most of the chrysanthemum growers select three of the best stems on a plant for late flowers. They remove all other basal shoots. Only occasionally is a single stem per plant left. However, in the Portland area where chrysanthemum shows are a big event, we saw many fine amateur plantings where only one and two stems were allowed to grow as these hobbyists felt that the plant could not nourish more than two large, perfect flowers.

The removal of basal and side shoots must be done carefully. They are never torn from the plant. Tearing or pulling them off leaves a ragged wound. Tearing can even peel the surface far down the stem. A shoot is cut with a sharp knife, pruning shears, or by pinching out with thumb and forefinger while the growth is young.

Last year, Mrs. Richard Hoag, a member of the garden Study Club of the Peninsula, brought her first two attempts at growing cascade chrysanthemums to the horticultural table of the club. These plants were beautifully grown and compared very favorably to the best plants of the same variety in the Oakland chrsanthemum garden. A plant or two of these very showy cascades could be grown on a balcony or porch. They certainly would decorate it.

It is a bit late to start cuttings of a cascade as they are usually started in a heated glasshouse in January and February because it is too cold and wet outside for cuttings at that time of year. In fact, regular chrysanthemum cuttings could have been started a bit earlier this year if the rains had ceased. Wet weather causes plants to die and mold. Cuttings of Japanese types of chrysanthemums take longer to root than our regular chrysanthemums. However, local nurseries and garden centers carry rooted cuttings ready for moving into four-inch pots and some have plants already in this size pots. Some of them will even have some of the new Masterpiece chrysanthemums which we tried out last year. These are being introduced by Yoder Bros. Inc. of Ohio. We found them to be exceptionally sturdy and free flowering.

Development Foes Win Round

Opponents to Grubb & Ellis' move to convert their 145-unit apartment project on Westborough Boulevard from rental to condominium won a skirmish Monday night.

The South San Francisco City Council voted to hold a hearing on the conversion for their next meeting, three weeks hence, on May 6.

Donald F. Gamma, chairman of the board of directors of the West Park Homeowners Association, opened the matter up Monday night by writing a letter appealing the Planning Commission's action in approving a tentative subdivision map. When this map becomes a final subdivision map, the six-acre complex will become a condominium apartment project.

Gamma demanded to know why — in the face of a 90-day moratorium on condominium conversion — the planners had given Grubb and Ellis approval for conversion. Such approval, he charged, would be the first step to approving conversion of the entire area, master-planned for 1100 apartment units.

The project is bounded by Gellert Boulevard and Interstate 280.

Director of Public Services Frank J. Addiego said that it was only a tentative map. Before the conversion could become effective, Grubb & Ellis would have to comply with a long list of conditions.

Gamma expressed surprise when informed that he was taking part in a public hearing. The reply to his appeal letter, he claimed, was worded ambiguously, so that he thought only that his letter would be read and a hearing set later. Had he known that there was going to be a hearing that night, he would have had many of his neighbors over, he declared.

Sam Young, attorney for Grubb & Ellis, asked that the hearing not be held over, but that the council allow the Planning Commission action to stand.

The project was nearing completion, he declared, and Grubb and Ellis had to know immediately whether it could convert to condominium. The firm had experienced many cost over-runs on the project, he said, and could not afford to let the apartments remain vacant upon their completion.

He said that the firm would be forced to rent its units, and then tenants would face hardships if forced to move when their apartments are sold.

Young said that nothing was slipped through the Planning Commission. He only convinced planners of his case after 2½ hour in public hearing, and some 100 hours with staff.

Taking Garage To the Vehicles

For the U.S. Postal Service in San Mateo County, you could say the mountain is going to come to Mohammed.

A mobile garage, designed to service small mail vehicles on the spot, is scheduled to be placed into operation by May 1.

It is expected that the huge device will be able to service nearly 200 postal vehicles in this area.

When opened out to perform its services, the creation — dubbed Unit X-47007 — will measure 43 feet long, 16 feet wide and 13 feet tall. It will travel throughout the county behind a five-ton GMC tractor.

According to the postal service, time and money will be saved by having the unit on hand.

Past practice has been to bring in ailing vehicles to the main San Mateo service center.

Two chief mechanics from the San Mateo Center, Jack Hartnett Jr. and Ted Keyworth, spent five weeks in Norman, Okla., recently assisting with the installation of sophisticated repair gear for the unit.

They then drove the unit from Oklahoma to San Mateo, a distance of 1720 miles.

Their sole mishap? A flat tire.

Woman Attacked, Stabs Assailant

A 26-year-old San Mateo woman who was raped Saturday on San Bruno Mountain managed to stab her assailant under the left eye with a pencil, bite him on the hand several times, then took his picture as he ran off after the attack.

Deputy Sheriff Larry Hefner reported that the woman, a botanist, was attacked about 11 a.m. while doing an environmental impact study in the vicinity of a dirt road north of the Guadalupe Canyon Parkway.

The victim told Hefner that the man approached her as she was working and then grabbed her, grappling with her as he attempted to rip off her shorts.

She told the man he was "sick," the woman related. He replied, "Yes, I know," she said.

The suspect, who said he was married, was asked by the victim, "Do you do this often?", replying, "No, only on special occasions," she said.

During the struggle, the victim said she stabbed the man under the eye with her pencil and that when he stuck his fingers down her throat to keep her from screaming she bit him several times.

Following the attack, the rapist used the victim's head scarf to tie her hands behind her back. She managed to free herself, grabbed her camera and snapped a photograph of the suspect as he retreated in the distance.

The suspect was described as caucasian in his late 20's or early 30's, with a shaggy, thin beard and shoulder length hair tied in a pony tail. He was wearing gold-colored shirt and trousers.

Hefner reported that the victim suffered numerous scratches and was treated at Mary's Help Hospital.

GAIL ROYSTON, of Daly City, has been named Director of Personnel of the Hyatt Regency San Francisco in Embarcadero Center.

THE VICTIM of an auto crash on Huntington Avenue at the Tanforan Shopping Center parking lot exit in San Bruno Friday is shown being readied for a trip to Kaiser Hospital in South San Francisco. Suffering the head injuries was Donald Paul Pizziconi, 22, 3330 Fasman Drive, San Bruno, who police said was southbound on Huntington when his car collided with that of Shahrad R. Shosazadegan, 869 Viewridge Drive, San Mateo, which was leaving the parking lot. The mishap occurred at about 11 a.m. Pizziconi's smashed car is in background. (ABC Photo)

Commissioner May Challenge Bruno Plan

San Bruno Planning Commissioners on a 4-1 vote Monday night recommended the third draft of a proposed A-R (administrative-Research) district ordinance be sent to the City Council for adoption.

Commissioner Leon Miller, who cast the dissenting vote, also told his colleagues that "I may appear before the City Council on this subject."

Miller's remark was a notification to allow any of his fellow commissioners, who might wish to do so, to appear before the council to rebut his comments.

A recent change in the Planning Commission by-laws require that any commissioner desiring to argue a commission decision before the City Council must give prior notice of his intent.

Miller's negative vote on the proposed district was aimed mainly against what he considered "nebulous" wording.

"We've been beaten over the head time and time again with intent," said Miller. "Everything should be spelled out. The minimums are going to become maximums," warned Miller.

He was particularly critical of portions of the proposal in which it was stated that "at the discretion of the Commission" a developer could have no minimum rear yard setback.

"Anytime a developer can get by with zero setback he'll use it," said Miller. "We'll wind up with zero setbacks. We've got to specify, let everyone know what our thinking and desires are in this respect.

"Leaving it in a nebulous areas where anything can apply is a frivolous way of wording an ordinance," said Miller.

Chairman Bill Cox said "this ordinance does have teeth in it." He said "future commissioeers will be as diligent as this commission."

Associate Planner Paul Moeller, who prepared the proposed ordinance, said he thought the portions giving commissioner discretion was a strength not a weakness of the distrct. "It allows flexibility," said Moeller.

The purpose of the new district is to encourage the establishment of high quality light industrial areas, including research and development and large-scale administrative offices.

In other business, the commissioners:

Set for the May 6 meeting a request for a use permit to allow a sign for the four proposed United Artists Theaters being constructed at the Tanforan Shopping Center.

Accepted for review and report later a proposed ordinance submitted by resident Gary Mondfrans concerning an apparent growing situation statewide of apartment complexes being converted into condominiums. Mondfrans sought passage of an urgency ordinance placing a moratorium on such conversions in San Bruno until an ordinance on such a matter could be drafted.

New Wage Increase

Some 1,100 county clerical and office workers who are without representation in meet and confer negotiations with the county because of a union dispute received a supplemental wage and benefit increase from the Board of Supervisors Tuesday.

The employes were authorized a 5½ per cent salary hike by the board as of Jan. 1 upon the recommendation of County Manager M. D. Tarshes, with the understanding that an adjustment would be made on the basis of subsequent contracts negotiated with represented employe units.

On that basis, the board today granted the 1,100 an additional one-half per cent salary increase, making a total hike of 6 per cent retroactive to January 1, plus an increased county contribution of $12 (from $38 to $50) a month for employe and dependent in health and hospitalization costs, an increase from $5 to $12 in county contribution to dental insurance, plus severance benefits of $150 for each year of service to an employe who might lose a job as the result of closing or change in the status of Chope Community Hospital.

Other benefits were in line with those granted other employe groups.

Offices Picketed

About 300 members of the United Farm Workers and their families held a demonstration Friday at the offices of Gallo Wines in South San Francisco and ran the UFW banner up the building's flag pole.

However, the office building was empty and Gallo executives and workers missed the protest which was combined with an ecumenical Good Friday service.

"Maybe they heard we were coming," said Fred Ross, Bay Area organizer for the UFW.
